Unveil World War Trophy at Malden On Saturday

Bigelow Homestead Scene of Distinguished Gathering Who Enjoy Elaborate Program of Speeches and Music—Ground Surrounding Trophy to Become a Park.

In spite of the threatening weather of Saturday, a large gathering of distinguished people as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Poultney Bigelow of Malden-on-Hudson bespoke their appreciation of the very gracious hospitality always extended at the Bigelow Homestead. This year the annual festivities were made increasingly interesting because of the unveiling of the World War trophy recently received from the War Department, thanks to the untiring efforts of Mr. Bigelow.

The day was so mild that the basket lunches, reinforced with hot coffee, were greatly enjoyed, especially as the autumnal foliage along the Hudson was colorful and the lights and shades were in sharp contrasts.

The real exercises opened with the parade of the school children singing the Battle Hymn of the Republic followed by the invocation by the Rev. R. C. Searing of West Park who also led the assemblage in the recital of the Lord's Prayer.

In introducing Melville Clark of Syracuse and his Irish Harp, Mr. Bigelow spoke of him as "The soul of these occasions." Certainly his cheery smile and beautiful music proved a fair substitute for the scanty sunshine. Guests at Bigelow Day always leave happier and therefore better for Melville Clark and his music. Realizing this, the host asked the musician to play a couple of numbers for the children, which he did very graciously, greatly to the delight of the youngsters.

Park to Be Established.

It seems that the plot of ground immediately surrounding the World War trophy, a German machine gun captured in battle, is to be beautified as a park for the townspeople, especially the school children, and before the youthful guests left for their ice cream party Mr. Bigelow, in his inimitable manner, with running commentary, read a list of the contributors of funds ($1 being asked for but frequently exceeded) toward this park. The total was the sum of $100 which Mr. Bigelow presented to Mr. Sutton as representing the community.

In the name of the community, Mr. Sutton received the gift with a sincere expression of gratitude. All who had in any way contributed services toward the bringing and placing of the gun, were also thanked.

Mr. Bigelow then introduced Lady Eaton of Toronto, who had motored down for the occasion and who sang charmingly two solos, accompanied admirably on the concert harp by Melville Clark. Lady Eaton said before singing that she would first sing an Italian song, because Melville Clark and she herself liked it and therefore knew that her hearers would like it, and then she would sing an Irish song because Mr. Bigelow liked that, and so again, of course, her hearers would like that. Lady Eaton has a rich, sympathetic soprano voice and so pleased her audience that she was obliged to sing again and gave "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" as an encore number.

Poultney Bigelow's address of welcome was such as only Poultney Bigelow knows how to give, and in view of the weather he emulated Mark Tapley by being an optimist and finally leading up cleverly to the need of genuine optimism for democracy. At the close of his kindly greetings he introduced Judge Alton B. Parker, reminding his hearers of Judge Parker's exalted position in this country.

Preserve Ideals, Says Parker.

After graciously expressing his pleasure at being present, Judge Parker paid a glowing tribute to the memory of Mr. Bigelow's father, John Bigelow, whom he recalled as "statesman, author, writer, newspaper editor and secretary of state at Albany" when Judge Parker first met him. In his excellent address stressing the necessity of keeping the United States in accordance with the Consititution of the American people, descendants of the pioneer settlers of this land, Judge Parker told of his own part in initiating a movement looking toward the restriction of immigration in order that the country might be so saved. He also spoke of the action of the National Civic Federation of which he was president, giving their logical and correct backing to Secretary Kellogg in his dictum against the admission of the British communist into our country. In closing he besought each one present to do his or her individual part to support the highest ideals of the American government as the best way to build for the future of the children.

According to the program, it was expected that Col. R. M. Thompson, president of the American committee on Olympic Sports, would be present and speak, but instead Mr. Bigelow was in receipt of a telegram of regret from the colonel who is ill in a hospital. In his place, however, Mr. Bigelow introduced his son-in-law, S. H. P. Pell, of Ticonderoga, who was wounded severely on the French front. Before calling him to the rostrum of the front porch, Mr. Bigelow read a stirring poem, "Out There," written by Mr. Pell. The latter said he was decidedly at a disadvantage for he supposed his remarks were to be at the unveiling.

Olive Asks Court For Mandamus

Town Officials and County Superintendent of Highways Disagree Over Appointment of Superintendent of Construction — Judge Hasbrouck Suggests Solution of Trouble.

Judge John G. Van Etten appeared at the regular special terms of the Supreme court held Saturday by Judge C. D. B. Hasbrouck and made application for a writ of mamdamus in behalf of the town of Olive against County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran. The town of Olive through its supervisor, Lester B. Davis, asks relief from the court by compelling action which will result in the completion of county road No. 20 in that town. The road, which is the connecting link between Stone Ridge and the Ashokan boulevard, is at present partially completed.

The only difficulty at present appears to be the matter of determining who shall be superintendent of the construction work. Under the law the county superintendent of highways with the "advice and consent" of the town board must appoint a superintendent to have charge of county road work. This Mr. Loughran did. However, his selection was not satisfactory to the town board when it met and it declined to approve of his appointment and the board, in turn recommended by resolution, signed by the members of the board, the regularly elected town superintendent of highways.

Can't Handle Too Many Jobs.

Mr. Loughran as county superintendent of highways would not approve of this choice on the grounds that the town superintendent of highways of any town could not take care of his regular work and be daily in attendance at the construction of a county highway as is required. The superintendent on a county highway construction job is required to be in attendance at all times and actually supervise the work. If the town superintendent of Olive devoted his time to the county road job he would have to neglect his other work in the town, in the opinion of County Superintendent Loughran.

As a result of the difference between Mr. Loughran and the town board of Olive work on the road has been stopped and the travelling public suffers.

Judge Suggests Easy Solution.

Saturday's application for a mandamus to compel action was held in abeyance pending the return of Mr. Loughran who was out of town. Judge Hasbrouck stated in his opinion the matter could be adjusted by the town board submitting a few names of those whom they were willing to approve and from among the names suggested he was sure the county superintendent would be able to select a man satisfactory to all parties.

County Attorney John W. Eckert, who appeared for the county and Mr. Loughran, stated that there was no objection to this and that any capable man, other than the town superintendent, would undoubtedly be satisfactory to Mr. Loughran who wanted work to proceed as quickly as possible.

When Officials Disagreed.

County road No. 20, connecting the Kingston-Ellenville highway at Stone Ridge with the Ashokan boulevard, was determined as a road for improvement in December, 1920, when the board of supervisors took action on the matter. In May, 1921, the board alloted $9,000 of the county funds to the road and the state $1,000, making available $10,000. The town share of $4,333.33 was also raised and work was commenced. On June 16, 1925, Supervisor Davis was notified by County Superintendent Loughran that the town superintendent could commence work on the road. Work was started with the town superintendent in charge. Later Mr. Loughran appointed Alvin Markle superintendent for the work as required by law. The appointment was sent to the supervisor of Olive and on July 23, 1925, a meeting of the town board was called. David Windrum moved that the appointment be rejected and it was, all members of the board voting for rejection. Mr. Weidner then offered a resolution to the effect that E. M. Boice be named. Mr. Boice is the elected town superintendent of highways.

Town Owes Money For Labor.

Work was taken up and the town proceeded to grade the road and place the coarse stone and do other work until it is claimed the town's share of the cost was exhausted. The road is not completed and is in very bad condition. The town's share of $4,333.33 is about gone and there is still owing by the town for labor about $100. On August 8, 1924, work was suspended and since that time the road has remained in bad condition.

County's Position Stated.

Mr. Eckert in reply to Judge Van Etten stated that it was the desire of all that the road be completed but it was not possible for the town superintendent to have charge of the work and continue to act as town superintendent and take care of this work. So far as the town expending its share of over $3,000, he had no knowledge, but if they had gone so the town had illegally spent the money. The $10,000 for completion of the work was in the bank and would be applied to the work as soon as the town board approved of a superintendent who was satisfactory also to the county superintendent. Judge Van Etten replied that the board had objected to Markle's appointment as he had no experience and that the town board would approve of any competent man.

Agree on Take Consequences.

Judge Hasbrouck reserved decision pending the return of Mr. Loughran. If an agreement cannot be arrived at on one day's notice to appear in court and have that matter determined

Woman Killed by Auto Remains Unidentified

Authorities Fail To Establish Identity of Woman Killed on Saugerties Road Sunday—Died Before Reaching Hospital.

An all night effort on the part of the authorities to identify an unknown woman who was killed in an automobile accident on the Saugerties road at 6:10 o'clock Sunday evening has been of no avail and up to this afternoon her identity had not been established.

Sunday evening at 6:10 o'clock Joseph Haldecamp of 62 Pine Grove avenue, this city, was proceeding along the Saugerties road near the junction of the Neighborhood road when his car struck a woman. She had been walking on the right side of the road coming toward Kingston. As Mr. Haldecamp was driving to Kingston at about 20 miles an hour another car approached. He was blinded by the headlights and turned to the extreme right of the road.

It was impossible for him to see anyone walking along the road and before he realized it his car had struck some object. He stopped and saw that it was a woman. Louis Dutto, who was passing with his family, saw that the injured woman was severely hurt and he offered to take her to the hospital. She was dead when she arrived at the hospital. An autopsy later showed that her skull was fractured and several ribs and her back were broken.

Mr. Haldecamp immediately notified the sheriff's office and Deputy Sheriffs Traynor and Ellsworth were sent to the scene to learn who the woman was. Inquiry failed to give any information and a description was sent out in the hope that relatives or friends would be located.

Marks of Identification.

There are no identification marks on the body. The woman is about 50 or 60 years old, five feet two inches in height and weighs about 180 pounds. The upper teeth are all gold. She wore a white waist, black suit, velvet hat and low black slippers and black stockings. Her hair is gray and she wore ear rings.

From an examination of the body it appears that she was walking toward Kingston and had partly turned in the direction from which the Heidecamp car was coming when she was struck.

After an examination of the body and the securing of a description the authorities started out to interview persons in the neighborhood in an effort to determine who the unknown woman was. Inquiry among the nearby residents failed to elicit any information. At the Lake Katrine garage the only information so far secured was obtained. It was reported there that a woman answering the description had come from the direction of Kingston and stopped at the garage where she inquired the way to Albany avenue and Foxhall avenue. She was directed and retraced her steps toward Kingston. They had never seen her before.

Coroner Conner was notified and ordered the autopsy performed and then took charge of the body pending information from relatives or friends.

Not West Hurley Woman.

Because of the failure of the mother of Dominick Salvucci of West Hurley, an old lady who makes her home with her son, to arrive on Saturday evening at the West Shore station it was thought she might be the woman who was killed by the automobile on the Saugerties-Kingston highway. Mrs. Salvucci had been visiting relatives in New York and Philadelphia and wrote that she would be home Saturday evening. When she did not arrive the sheriff's office and police headquarters were notified that she was missing. In response to an inquiry made of Charles Tiller, storekeeper, this morning, it was said that the description of the woman killed received by him did not tally with that of the missing West Hurley woman.

EDDYVILLE FIREMEN FIGHT THEIR FIRST FIRE THERE.

This morning about 1:15 o'clock fire was discovered in the large barn on the Howard Burton property at Eddyville by Patrick O'Brien, a member of the recently organized Eddyville fire department, and he promptly sounded an alarm. Among the first to reach the scene of the fire were President Henry Schumann and Albert Weidrich, members of the fire department. Two horses in the barn were gotten out and the fire was soon under control with a property damage estimated at about $2,000. If it had not been for the discovery of the fire and the prompt work of the new fire department the building and its contents would have been consumed.

Cousins Fought Over Card Game

Schreibers Staged Fight on Cornell Street and Are Arrested —Cutler In Trouble Again—Other Police Court Cases.

James Schreiber, 60 years old, and George Schreiber, 45 years old, staged a fight on Cornell street on Saturday afternoon and were arrested after a chase over backyard fences by Officer Leonard. At police headquarters they had over $300 in cash with them and readily furnished bail for their appearance in police court today. The men are cousins, and informed Judge Coughlin that they had been arrested before. They were fined $5 each. When asked what the trouble was, they said they had an argument and it led to a fight. The argument, they said, was over a card game.

William H. Cummings of Montclair, N. J., forfeited $20 cash bail for failure to appear in police court to answer to a charge of speeding.

Calvin Cutler of 14 Derrenbacher street was arrested Sunday night by his son and turned over to the police. Cutler was intoxicated and started to break up the household dishes when stopped. He was arrested several days ago by the police for public intoxication on lower Hasbrouck avenue. This morning at the request of his wife and son a jail sentence of thirty days was suspended pending Cutler's future good behavior.

Joe Robb was arrested by the police for disorderly conduct at Wilbur and Greenkill avenues where he was using profane language. He pleaded guilty and a $10 fine was suspended with a warning that if he appeared in court again and was found guilty he would be jailed.

Daniel Krause, arrested by Motor Vehicle Inspector Murphy on a charge of operating a car without a license, explained that at the time of his arrest he did not have his license with him. He was fined $2.

John Stamatakos of Wall street, arrested by Inspector Murphy for not having a license with him, stated he had forgotten to renew his operator's license. He was fined $2.

R. Holloway of Adams street, arrested for driving his car with the cut open on Albany avenue, was fined $5.

Newburgh Shows Gain of Only 52

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 5.—Buffalo has a population of 538,016 according to census figures announced today by Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, secertary of state. This was a gain of 31,241 in the last five years.

In 1900 Buffalo had a population of 352,387; 1905, 376,587; 1910, 423,716; 1915, 454,715; 1920, 506,775.

Mrs. Knapp said that such tabulation as has been completed for Erie county, outside of Buffalo, shows the incorporated villages have made big gains in the last five years. These figures will be made public within a few days.

Population figures for other cities announced today give:

Port Jervis 10,507 as compared to 10,171 in 1920; Glens Falls 17,851, a gain of 1,213 in five years. Newburgh 30,418 as against 30,366 in 1920; Geneva 15,908 as compared with 14,648 five years ago; Corning 15,722 as against 15,820 in 1920; Dunkirk, 13,912 as against 13,336 in 1920; Lockport 21,676 as compared with 21,308 five years ago.

Three Hold-up Men Killed

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 5.—Three of five hold-up men were dead early today when demand to "stick 'em up" was met by a volley of shots in the Quinn and Duffy resort at Little Cleve Coeur Lake near here. Tom Quinn, one of the proprietors, did the shooting, police report.

One of the dead men was identified as Vincent Goeddie, who had a long police record. One of his dead comrades was Don Hoffman and the third had not been identified.

Friday and Saturday of this week are the first days of registration in Kingston for the fall election. The polls will open at 1% o'clock in the morning and close at 10 o'clock at night. Voters should register and enroll the first two days if possible. If you are not registered you can not vote this fall.

ULSTER COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETS OCT. 13.

The regular meeting of the Medical Society of the County of Ulster will be held at McCabe's Restaurant, Wall street, on Tuesday evening, October 13, at 8:30 o'clock. There will be a scientific session with Dr. Chester B. Van Gaasbeck presiding as chairman and a paper of "Jaundice" will be read by Dr. Joseph Jacobson. At the business session there will be nomination of officers for 1926.

23 Indictments By Grand Jury In County Court

Fourteen Open Indictments Reported and Defendants Are Arraigned—Nine Indictments Sealed—Sentences to Be Imposed Saturday—Still Work for Another Grand Jury.

The grand jury which has been in attendance at the September term of the county court reported at noon today. Fourteen open indictments were handed up and nine sealed. After reporting no uncompleted work the members of the grand jury were excused from further duty with the thanks of the court. The grand jury has been in session two weeks and although there is considerable more work for the attention of a grand jury, the grand jury in attendance at the county court was excused and the grand jury which reported with the Supreme court term this afternoon will take up the work.

The following open indictments were handed up:

Gilbert Smith, charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated on August 2, 1925, at the town of Woodstock. He pleaded guilty.

Jail Sentence for Motorist.

Charles Hudson, charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated on August 25, 1925, in the city of Kingston. Through his attorney, William H. Grogan, he entered a plea of guilty. Hudson, colored, was born in Virginia and resided at Gilboa where he is a barber. He was sentenced to 60 days in jail and his license to operate a car revoked.

John McKeon, charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, alleged to have been committed in the town of Marlborough on August 13 last, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of unlawful entry and his plea was accepted by District Attorney Traver.

William Anderson, charged with grand larceny, second degree, alleged to have been committed on June 26, in the town of Shandaken, also entered a plea of guilty.

Pistol Toters Plead Guilty.

Thomas Murphy, charged with carrying a pistol without a permit on May 24, 1925, at the town of Ulster, also entered a plea of guilty.

Jay R. Robinson, charged with carrying a pistol concealed upon his person without a license on July 22, 1925, in the city of Kingston, also pleaded guilty.

Charge Murder, Second Degree.

Charles Pathcouski, indicted for murder, second degree, in killing Max Miller in the town of Marlborough on July 3, of this year, was arraigned but could not understand English. An effort to secure an interpreter failed and his case will be taken up later.

Three Indictments Against Dalton.

William Dalton, charged in two indictments with burglary, third degree, alleged to have been committed in the town of Shandaken on September 21 and September 7, 1925, and also a third indictment charging robbery, first degree, alleged to have been committed on Clinton Johnston in the town of Shandaken on September 7, 1925, entered a plea of not guilty to the three indictments. He said he would get counsel later.

Frank Morrison, indicted for assault, second degree, alleged to have been committed on July 2, 1925, at the town of Shawangunk, entered a plea of not guilty. Earl Houghtaling appeared for him.

Stabbing Results in Indictment.

Peter Koosier, indicted for assault, second degree, growing out of a stabbing on September 13 in the town of Wawarsing, entered a plea of not guilty and asked that counsel be assigned.

Harry Golden and John O'Hanasen, also known as John C. Solder, indicted for attempting to commit the crime of burglary, third degree, on June 22, 1925, in the city of Kingston, both entered pleas of not guilty. They stated they had counsel, James Dalton of Yonkers.

Robert Evans, charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated on June 21 in the city of Kingston, entered a plea of guilty.

Sentence Prisoners Saturday.

In the cases where the defendants entered pleas of guilty, imposition of sentence was adjourned. Deputy County Clerk Geroldeck after jurors on the grand jurors convened the Supreme court at 2 o'clock and lack of time prevented Judge Fowler imposing sentence. Court went into recess until Saturday morning at 10 o'clock when sentence will be imposed and general arrangements under sealed indictments will be made.

Cases Dismissed.

There were three dismissals. No bill of indictment was found against Nicholas Corda and Carmela Sparco, arrested for adultry, and bail bonds were cancelled. Peter Blair, arrested for adultry, was discharged from custody when no indictment was found. William Pinder, arrested for burglary, third degree, was also ordered discharged from custody when no indictment was found.

Goldman Case in November.

It is likely that the trial of Sam Goldman, indicted for murder, first degree, will be taken up on November 17, as witnesses have been summoned for that time.

Court recessed until Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Dance at St. Peter's.

There will be a dance this evening at St. Peter's School.

Left His Property To Both Wives

But Wife Number One Claims That David C. Starr of New Paltz Had Previously Agreed to Give Her Two Mortgages and $1,300 to Pay on Mortgage on Her Home.

David C. Starr, who died at New Paltz in 1924, leaving an estate which is valued at about $140,000, was married prior to his coming to New Paltz several years ago and is survived by his wife and four children who reside in Massachusetts. In addition to Mrs. Starr who resides in Massachusetts, he is survived by "Mrs." Starr Number Two and five children, with whom he lived at New Paltz.

From Mrs. Starr Number One he never secured a divorce and during his residence at New Paltz with wife Number Two he continued to support his legal wife in Massachusetts. These facts were brought out in special term of the supreme court Saturday when application was made to the court for judgment for the amount of two mortgages held by Mr. Starr and also for a $1,300 mortgage which he held on the home of his first wife. Mrs Ada C. Starr, his first wife, contends that prior to his death in 1924, at New Paltz, he had agreed to give her these two mortgages as well as to settle the mortgage on her home in Massachusetts for $1,300. The total amount is about $7,400.

There is an action pending in the supreme court which has been marked for trial at the term of court which opened today. The action is brought by Ada C. Starr against Easton Van Wagenen and Elting Harp, as executors of David C. Starr.

In 1895, Mr. Starr left his wife and four children in their Massachusetts home and failed to return. Later he became acquainted with wife Number Two and they came to New Paltz to live. Mr. Starr was a prosperous business man and owned a considerable amount of real estate in New Paltz. He was never married to wife Number Two, by whom he had five children.

It is the contention of Mrs. Starr Number One that some time prior to his death he entered into an agreement by which he was to give her two mortgages which he held and also the $1,300 for the mortgage on her home. However, he died before the agreement was terminated, and she now seeks to have this carried out. She claims there was a contract entered into which was never carried out. During his residence in New Paltz Mr. Starr sent wife Number One from $75 to $100 a month. Starr's wealth is placed at about $100,000 beside about $40,000 personal property and his annual income was from $6,000 to $10,000 a year.

By his will he gave his real estate, subject to the dower right of wife Number One, to his children. His personal property, valued at $40,000, he gave to wife Number Two. Wife Number One claims that in addition to her dower right in the real estate she was to receive the two mortgages and the $1,300 mortgage on her home.

Decision was reserved and papers were submitted to the court.

Engine Crew Has Narrow Escape

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Their train running wild down the steep incline to the Genesee docks of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railway today, the engineer and fireman saved themselves by leaping from the cab.

They missed possible death by seconds as the locomotive plunged down a twenty foot embankment and buried its nose in a swamp.

Elmer Bisnett and H. J. Kelley, both of this city, were the engine crew. The train, made up of cars loaded with coal, started on its dash when the brakes refused to work.

LOWER WEST SHORE ROAD TO BE ELECTRIFIED SOON.

Building booms in all Rockland county towns traversed by the West Shore Railroad are reported because of the possibility of the near approach of the electrification of the railroad. The West Shore line is now being four-tracked and the work is rapidly approaching the Rockland county line. Some reports include Haverstraw as the first terminal of the electric power line, while others put it as nearer New York, possibly Tuxmont.

Big Questions Before Legion Convention

Sessions of American Legion Convention Promised To Be Enlivened With Discussion on Politics, Volstead Act and Colonel Mitchell.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 5.—This city of the hills was a bugler's gehenna and a buck private's paradise today as phalanxes of the Legion continued pouring off trains, motor busses, flivvers and even aeroplanes to attend the seventh annual convention of the American Legion.

The convention is the most colorful ever attempted by the veterans. State delegations have assumed fantastic designations in dress, ranging from straw sombreros and blue jumpers to the horizon blue of the delegates who are members of the famous "Forty-and-Eight," inner shrine of the Legion affairs.

It was decided that permonent committees of the convention will be on rehabilitation, resolutions, legislation, Americanism, finance, internal organization, naval affairs, military affairs, aeronautics, constitutional amendments, time and place of next meeting, child welfare, endowment fund and France travel.

There were many booms for national commander floating in the convention atmosphere today.

One movement for naming a commander that has been kept more or less under cover is in favor of Colonel William "Wild Bill" Donovan of Buffalo, N. Y., chief investigator of the United States department of justice, commander of the 165th infantry during the World War and mentioned sometimes as a potential presidential candidate in 1928. Colonel Donovan holds the congressional medal of honor, wears wound stripes and has generally a war record unsurpassed.

Three big questions today promised to enliven the sessions of the convention. In the order of their importance, in the minds of Legionnaires who discuss them, these are:

"1. Shall the Legion amend its constitution so as to eliminate the article keeping the organization officially out of politics and political questions?

"2. Shall the Legion, by official resolution, go on record favoring modification of the Volstead act?

"3. Shall the Legion, backing Colonel 'Billy' Mitchell, offer an official resolution urging an independent air service?"

Coolidge Makes Trip to Omaha

Where On Tuesday He Will Address American Legion Convention—Line of Travel Mapped Out For Political Purposes.

Aboard the Presidential Special en route to Omaha, Oct. 5.—Through the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys, President Coolidge was travelling today en route to Omaha, where on Tuesday he will address the annual convention of the American Legion.

The executive faces twenty four more hours of train travel before he reaches the Nebraska city. His route however, has been so arranged as to carry him through territory hitherto untouched in his presidential journeys. Passing through southern Ohio, Mr. Coolidge skirted Cincinnati early this morning. This afternoon will find him speeding through Indiana and Illinois toward St. Louis where his special is to be switched from the Baltimore and Ohio to the Wabash railroad and on through Missouri and Iowa.

This line of travel was especially mapped out for the political significance it might carry. With the congressional elections of 1926 impending, the president is anxious to lend whatever moral support he can to the Republican candidates in the central states.

The presidential special passed through Storrs, Ohio, suburb of Cincinnati at eight thirty this morning. At approximately five o'clock this afternoon it will reach St. Louis, loitering there in there in the railroad yards for about an hour before continuing on its westward journey.

Mr and Mrs. Coolidge breakfasted this morning in company with Mrs. James A. Drain, wife of the national commander of the American Legion. Thereafter they retired to the private car furnished them to sit on the observation platform and read and talk.

It was just twenty years ago that the Coolidges arrived in Montreal, Canada on their honeymoon. Today's journey is in striking contrast to that which began on October 4, 1905.

Over 100,000 Campers Used Camp Sites in Catskills and Adirondacks —Number of Forest Fires Less by 30 Per Cent.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 5.—During the season just closing, despite several rainy periods, the public camp sites maintained by the conservation commission in the Adirondack and Catskill parks were enjoyed by more campers and automobile tourists than in any previous season.

Three years ago in response to the strong public demand for increased recreational facilities in the forest preserve, the commission began laying out camp sites on the main traveled highways, large enough to accommodate several hundred campers at once. Their popularity was immediate and before the end of the season they were filled to capacity. Other camp sites were laid out as rapidly as funds would permit and this year four large sites were opened up at Sharp Bridge on the main New York-Montreal highway, Connery Pond road and Meadow Brook near Lake Placid and Third Lake Creek in the Fulton Chain region. The Sharp Bridge camp was an enlargement of an older camp site with 31 fire places, water and sanitary accommodations for large numbers of camping parties at once without crowding.

In addition to enlarging the camp sites the commission appointed six motor cycle rangers to police the sites, furnish information to tourists and serve as an auxiliary to the forest fire protective force. Up to September 15, no forest fires resulted from the use of the camp sites which had been occupied by more than 100,000 campers and the number of fires in the entire Adirondack and Catskill parks was smaller by more than thirty per cent than for the corresponding period of the preceding year.

INFLUENCE OF JAZZ.

Discussed by Cesar Thomson, Greatest Living Exponent of Paganinni.

Cesar Thomson, one of the world's greatest violinists and only living exponent of Paganinni, has returned to his studio at the Ithaca Conservatory, Ithaca, N. Y., after his first trip to the Pacific Coast in thirty years. Jazz music, or ragtime as it was formerly known, originated in San Francisco and the great violinist had withheld his opinion of it for two years until the opportunity came to him to observe it in its native lair.

"Riding back and forth across the continent for the first time in thirty years," the great violinist said, "the opportunity came to observe what jazz music is doing to America and what its effect will be. I am 68; yet this is my generation; for the spirit rather than calendar and time table determines one's age. Rather than speak of the past I would talk of the present and jazz music, as you call it, is in this generation attracting much, too much attention.

"Thirty years ago the public had less interest and knowledge in fine music than it has today, that is the quantity of interest and knowledge was less. That quantity has increased in recent years but we are in danger of losing that sincere purpose in understanding music so evident in the past. The reason for this change is quite plain. Some influences in music are topsy turvy. They have reversed themselves. The strongest and best among musicians are becoming—some already have become—influenced unfavorably and are being led in their teaching of music by those whom they are supposed to teach. They are led by the whimsical tendency of the time to overpopularize jazz.

"Jazz, as at present understood, is harmful to the finest tendencies in music education, both the education of the musician and the public. Artists are listening too much to the siren of popularity whose voice is jazz. They are writing and teaching music which contains the cheap elements of jazz and their singing and playing shows that influence. Crude, superficial jazz may possess certain technical elements which the musical craftsman must necessarily study and even that is a mooted question. But jazz is far from a cultivated art which appeals to the deepest and sincerest in the hearts and minds of the human brotherhood. It is commercial, through and through, and art is not a thing of commerce. How easy to perceive how music influenced by jazz becomes a market commodity or not art. Furthermore jazz with its purely commercial aspect is doing nothing to make the thoughts of the world less commercial at a time when competition is breeding wasteful hurry in our lives. Our world instead of becoming a better place in which to live and think becomes a race, mad and purposeless. The superficiality of jazz encourages careless, shallow thinking and doing and therein lies its greatest danger to our own generation and those of the future."

Episcopal Church Considers Change

National Convention to Determine Many Matters, Including Revision of Prayer Book—Marriage, Divorce and Burial Some of Questions Up For Consideration.

Whether the Episcopal Church in the United States shall shorten its budget by $1,200,000 and through a policy of retrenchment, curtail its educational program, reduce the salaries of missionary workers in all its fields, and abandon some fields entirely, is one of the pressing questions which will be decided at the Forty-eighth Triennial General Convention of the Church which will assemble at New Orleans on Wednesday, October 7. Other vital questions which the convention will consider are those establishing a definite Order of Deaconesses in the church, of affiliating with the Federal Council of Churches in the United States, and of creating a provincial system, which has been agitated since the organization of the church one hundred and forty years ago.

The revision of the Prayer Book, begun in 1913, will be continued, and this convention will be called upon to pass finally on the proposition to eliminate from the marriage service the promise of the bride to obey her husband, and another proposal under which the service for the burial of the dead will be permitted in case of those who have taken their own lives. Matters involving divorce and the general questions of home and family life, of the relations of capital and industry, and the ever-present question of the elimination of war, will also be discussed by the one hundred and thirty bishops from all parts of the world, and upwards of 500 deputies who will continue in session in New Orleans, during a period of three weeks.

The New Orleans convention will mark the first occasion since the church was organized when it will have gone to the Far South for a place of meeting. Previous conventions have been held in St. Louis and Richmond, but for the most part northern cities have always been selected as gathering places. The growth of the south, and particularly the fact that the south is today the strongest religious center in the United States, prompted this selection of New Orleans for this year's triennial meeting. A southern bishop, the Right Rev. Theodore DuBose Bratton, D. D., Bishop of Mississippi, will have the notable honor of preaching the convention sermon at a great open-air service in Audubon Park, which will formally open the convention.

Not the least of the important tasks which will fall to the convention will be the selection of a Presiding Bishop, who in rank, if not in title, will have the same standing as regards the independent Church in the United States, as that of the Archbishop of Canterbury in the Church of England. Rt. Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, D. D., Bishop of Bethlehem, is the present Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, by right of seniority. Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Gailor, D. D., Bishop of Tennessee, is the president of the National Council of the church, that being the executive and administrative body of the communion in the periods between the meetings of the General Conventions. Under the constitution of the church, this year's convention will select a head of the church in the United States, who will combine at once the offices of Presiding Bishop and president of the council, who will serve for a period of six years.

The makeup of the Episcopal Convention parallels that of the congress of the United States in that it is composed of a House of Bishops, comparing with the senate, who are the heads of the dioceses and missionary districts of the church throughout the world, and a House of Deputies, who correspond to congressmen elected to represent the church at large in the various dioceses. The parallel with the Federal government is carried out in the National Council, the president of which corresponds to the president of the United States, while the heads of the six departments of the council stand in the same relation to him as do the members of the cabinet at Washington to the president. All legislation enacted by the convention must secure a majority vote in both houses.

The forthcoming convention will call together about 4,00 representative workers of the church in their various capacities including every field of business and professional activities in the United States. Meeting concurrently with the church convention, the tennial conclave of the Woman's Auxiliary will also be held in New Orleans with about 500 delegates, representing half a million women from all parts of the world. The approaching convention will be one of the most important and interesting that has ever been held by the Episcopal Church.

Over 1400 Publishers Belong to the A. B. C.

THE Kingston Daily Freeman is one of the many progressive publications, members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, that have adopted an open and "Above Board Circulation" policy. A. B. C. reports lay before advertisers vital circulation facts that have been checked and verified by trained circulation auditors.

Among A. B. C. publications it is possible for advertisers to compare detailed circulation data as to city and suburban circulation, trading territory, contests, premiums, and other points of interest to advertisers. Only under this plan can they buy space with a full knowledge of the Pertinent Facts. They can have confidence in the effectiveness of their Campaigns.

Before the advent of the A. B. C., advertisers were forced to depend upon hearsay information and "Sworn Statements" of circulation. Detailed figures were not available. Today buyers of space look to the A. B. C. for solid unbiased circulation information and select their advertising mediums accordingly.

You can secure such Facts on the Freeman Publishing Company by referring to the latest A. B. C. Report. A copy will be gladly furnished on request.

Girl Gained 7 Pounds Nine Years an Invalid

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar coated, pleasant to take tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach upsetting oil itself—they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at any druggist's.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength:

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 5 months old and was an invalid for 9 years—when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues. I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market. She is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day." Mrs. L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

Imitations of McCoy's may be offered but be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine and if after thirty days' treatment you are not delighted with results—why, get your money back.

"Why endure that itching, burning torment"

I, too, tried many treatments without success, until I used Resinol Ointment, and I could hardly believe that the immediate relief it gave could last. But it did, and only a few treatments cleared away the whole trouble, leaving my skin as soft and smooth as a baby's. I'm never without it now and use it for any kind of skin discomfort". Fame

Fame is not futile. It is the passing salute to exceptional ability. The idea of every youth should be fame, fairly earned—in competition with others. The Olympic games of today typify to me the finest type of competition—the ideal of human contest and adventure. The better man, working to fit himself as best he can before. Land, wins. And such fame is worth while and respectable.—Chauncey M. Depew, in International Cosmopolitan.

MINING IN STAR DUST.

Milton referred in "Paradise Lost" to the Milky Way as "a broad and ample road whose dust is gold" and a later British poet, Francis Thompson, spoke of Shelley as "gold-dusty from tumbling amid the stars," but even among those accepting this as a legitimate flight of poetic fancy nobody dreamed that mining in star dust would ever be put forward as a practical proposition. Yet it appears that it is now seriously proposed to extract mineral wealth from "a deposit of star dust" in Arizona, located in a depression in a plateau near the Colorado river. This depression, 4,000 feet across and 500 feet deep, was formerly supposed to be the crater of an extinct volcano, but is now thought to have been caused by a great meteoric stone, which, upon its fall, buried itself deeply in the earth.

Experimental borings into this "huge chunk of star dust" are said to have confirmed the latter theory and brought to light many interesting mineral deposits, including meteoric iron and "microscopical diamonds." Regarded as of still greater importance is the fact that from five tons of the deposit one ounce of platinum has been obtained. Calculating on platinum as worth about $100 an ounce, and estimating that the embedded meteor weighs something like a thousand million tons, it has been easy for the promoters of the enterprise to envision the possibility of securing a vast fortune, even allowing for a large measure of conjecture. Though this "weird and fascinating business" seriously undertaken by a mining syndicate has all the elements of a gamble, there is reason for keen interest in the project, which must prove profitable to geologists even if the fallen "star dust" should fail to pan out to the extent hoped for.

"OLD" AT 21 YEARS.

Current comment on the "revolt of youth" and the "pace of youth" tends to convey the impression that American youngsters are leading the procession and even plunging far ahead, but if we can rely on the observation of Marcel Prevost, a French writer, even American youth must yield the palm to French youth in the matter of living fast and getting old and bored and out of date while still of tender years. From Prevost's "Lettres Pour Tous" we find this remarkable quotation:

Young men and young women near their twenty-first year are dominated by "realism" and even a brutal realism. But they belong to the past, a past already old, strange as that may look at first sight. The "young" of both sexes are 15, 16, 17, 18 years old. There is a sharp break, a deep ditch, between them and their elders by only two years. They have nothing in common. The "old" of 25 are realists; the "young" of 17 are mystico-Catholic, mystico-political, mystico-romantic.

If in literary Paris only those from 15 to 18 are "young," and those from 21 to 25 are "old," what is to be thought of the Howells ideal which here in America a generation ago featured fiction heroines of 25 as fresh, virginal, still bathed in the dews of youth's early prime? Doubtless young Paris would more than scoff at such "old ladies" of romance. This is a fast age everywhere, but it would appear that the pace of youth and near-literature even in Greenwich Village must acknowledge itself left behind by the plunge of modern youth astride of Pegasus in the old city by the Seine.

The Federal Council of Churches is known to be strongly prohibitionist, but the frank admissions in its report on five years of enforcement give so much displeasure to the Rev. Clarence True Wilson that he made haste to announce: "If the writer for the Federal Council is not getting anything from the National Association Opposed to Prohibition he is a fool. It is exactly the kind of stuff that organization pays for." In his heat Wilson seemed to forget that nothing pleases the enemy better than dissension and mud-slinging in the opposing camp.

Nothing is surprising nowadays not even that caravans of motor trucks have replaced camel trains on the ancient highway between Bagdad and Damascus. Something of the old time flavor survives, however, for we read that a desert caravan of the Nairn company was recently forced to defend itself against Bedouin brigands. It appears that the Nairn brothers, heads of the motor truck company, went to Syria from New Zealand during the World War and remained to do business.

No doubt the Turks are sensible enough not to adopt, along with straw hats, America's absurd September 15 ban on them.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

EASILY DISCOVERED.

One of our largest insurance companies with policy holders totalling into the millions, makes the startling statement that neglect of the teeth is responsible for one-half the ill health found among the industrial classes.

Now this is in North America where dental hygiene is taught in our schools and elsewhere.

The "lumps" or glands in the neck seen so often in children, and formerly thought to be always from infected tonsils, can now be definitely traced to bad teeth in a great many cases. The disappearance of these glands after the removal or treatment of bad teeth, is sufficient evidence of the danger to the system from neglected teeth. The dental profession in Great Britain report that nearly ninety per cent of the children suffer from bad teeth, with only one dentist to every fifteen thousand children. They blamed the white bread and cheap sugar as being largely responsible, as these foods adhered to the teeth and gums, and fermented with great rapidity.

In this country with its thousands of well trained dentists, and large school clinics, great strides are being made in keeping the children's teeth healthy.

In one locality, embracing about three million people, about fifty thousand children in the public schools were treated in the school dental clinics in one year. The aim of those behind this work is "to graduate every child from the public schools with sound and healthy teeth."

There is no question but that the mental and physical progress of the child can be impeded by unhealthy teeth.

The periodic examination of the children reveals these dental defects.

Many parents object to their children being undressed to be examined as to chest, spinal curvature, and so forth. This interferes greatly with the thoroughness of the examination.

It is indeed fortunate then that children can so readily reveal their mouth, and the condition of the teeth be learned. And with school dental clinics to take care of these cases the health and happiness of the children are assured.

Ulster's Record In Incorporations

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 5.—Judging from last month's record in the state's corporation bureau, there will be no lack of real estate firms during the months to come. One-third of the total number of stock companies incorporated in New York state last month, or 652 outside of 1,892 companies, gave as their purpose when incorporating, the real estate and construction business. Names under which many of these companies will do business were such as to indicate holdings in Florida. In sharp contrast came one solitary company to manufacture drum heads, two to deal in antiques, and a third to take care of the inner man through good old fashioned molasses cookies.

More than the usual number of companies incorporated last month, according to Secretary of State Knapp's report, to engage in the manufacture of radio sets and parts, there being 13 such companies, while garment-making claimed 37 and the motion picture industry 16.

In Ulster county 35 companies were incorporated during the first nine months of this year.

150 YEARS AGO

The Origin of the U. S. A.

By Jonathan A. Rawson, Jr.

OUR FIRST NAVY.

On October 5, 1775, one hundred and fifty years ago today, the Continental Congress, in session in Philadelphia, passed a resolution which marked that date as a conspicuous one in the history of the navy of the United States. This resolution authorized George Washington, Commander in Chief of the American Army, to employ two armed vessels and to send them out post haste in order to intercept if possible two British ships bound for Quebec with military stores. Two days before, one of the Rhode Island delegates in the Continental Congress had informed the Congress of Rhode Island's action in instructing its delegates to use their whole influence in Congress for the building, equipping and employment of a fleet which was to represent the entire thirteen colonies. At least one naval historian has called this action of Rhode Island "the origin of our navy."

There was at first strong opposition to this proposal in Congress. It was in no respect an argument for or against "preparedness," as we have known that word in late years. If the Congress had a motto in 1775, that motto was "watch your step!" The business of launching a navy under the chaotic conditions then prevailing, was indeed something to be pondered over carefully before taking action. But the war was actually on, and the enemy was in complete command of the sea, and certainly something had to be done to at least impair the supremacy of the enemy on the water.

To construct quickly a fleet of powerful fighting ships was wholly out of the question. One thing to try, however, was to fit out merchant ships with sufficient armament to make trouble for and perhaps even to capture British supply ships. This policy, as later stories will show, was attended by no little success. Frim this one little resolution, calling for only two armed vessels, there slowly developed a sea force which was an important factor in the progress of the war.

On this same date, October 5, 1775, Washington reported to Congress on certain matters which had been troubling him. A few restless individuals had been asking why he did not close in on Boston and drive the British out. He had his perfect answer to that question, but for good and sufficient reasons he could not allow that answer to reach the ears of his adversaries. But he could write to Congress that the enemy "are so strongly fortified as to render it almost impossible to force their lines * * * without great slaughter on our side or cowardice on theirs. We therefore can do no more than keep them besieged, which they are to all intents and purposes, as closely as any troops upon earth can be, that have an opening to the sea."

Roses in Southwest

Most curious are the wild roses of the dry Southwest. They are low-situated bushes of brown branches and many straight brown or white prickles, more like a gooseberry bush. The fruit is all prickles like the prickly gooseberry of our swamps, says Nature Magazine. The flowers are purple, rose or white, solitary, more like a strawberry bloom than of a rose. As the bushes are built for heat rather than for frost, they are not easy to grow in northern gardens, though they will live and bloom.

Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet Wednesday evening, October 7, at 7:30 o'clock in their council room on Broadway.

The many friends of Frank Dorr will be pleased to know he is improving from his recent illness.

A business meeting and social of the Epworth League will be held at the home of Mrs. John Lynn on Hamilton street Tuesday evening.

A class of sixteen boys and girls was taken in the Methodist Church Sunday morning at the holy communion service. The service was a very impressive one.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will hold a meeting Wednesday afternoon, October 7, at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Lillian Smith on Salem street.

Miss Mildred Short and Mrs. Elsie Hutchings of Broadway spent Sunday afternoon and evening with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Van Gaasbeck in Kingston.

MOHRACCUS HEIGHTS.

Mohracus Heights, Oct. 5.—The Misses Margaret and Eleanor Smith of Pataukunk recently spent a few days with their grandparents here.

Thomas Morehouse and Harold Van Etten were delegates from this place to the Democratic Convention at Accord on Saturday evening last.

The Van Etten family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith and family and other guests at Pataukunk and enjoyed a beautiful morning and afternoon service listening in on their fine new loud speaking radio set. The previous Sunday they visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Etten of Bloomington. Miss Margaret and Eleanor Smith accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Sherman of Brooklyn who have been spending a few days with relatives in this place were callers on Mr. and Mrs. L. Van Etten on Monday afternoon accompanied by the Rev. A. Quick and wife.

Thomas Morehouse made a business trip to Kingston Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Van Etten, son, Harold, and daughter, Mrs. Smith, of Pataukunk, were among the goodly number who enjoyed a fine day's outing at the Grahamsville Fair Wednesday.

Harry Smith of Pataukunk visited his parents here Thursday of last week.

Ambrose Van Etten is employed by Solomon Ulstroff.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, Oct. 5.—A clam chowder supper will be served by the Stone Ridge M. E. Sunday school Tuesday at 6 p. m. Menu: clam chowder, potato salad, cabbage salad, baked beans, pickles, jello, brown bread and white bread, cake and coffee.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. Church will hold its annual chicken supper, October 27. Those who have attended this supper in the previous years do not hesitate to say that this is one of the suppers where every one goes out with a full stomach. Many of the men find it necessary to loosen their belts before leaving the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Schoonmaker have returned home after spending a six week's wedding trip in Iowa and visiting many interesting places along the way. Their many friends wish them many years of health and happiness.

On October 25, the Sunday school will observe Rally Day. A very interesting program will be rendered.

Nobby is Dead.

Robert Moore, Jr., of 632 Broadway, and his playmates are not as cheerful as other children, due to the loss of a pal. Robert was the proud owner of a handsome thoroughbred Airedale, Nobby, which died very suddenly. The dog was a pal to the boys and will be missed very much. Possessing rare qualities the dog engaged in the many games and swimming that the boys enjoyed, acting as the mascot.

NATURAL CONCLUSION

A little colored girl who had learned to read had this conversation with her mother:

"Mother, was your name Pullman before you were married?"

"No, dear, why do you ask?"

"Well, I just wondered. I see that name on most of our towels."

Speaking of Towels

Few, too few folks think of us when buying towels, possibly because ours is principally a furniture business, and yet we sell thousands of towels to hotels and boarding houses. Our prices are low—they must be, as the competition on such goods is very keen. We buy in quantities to sell at small profits.

Gregory & Co.

Oysters—

The season is here for those delicious bivalves. We serve them in Fries and Stews that surely will satisfy. We are continuing to satisfy many lovers of Good Eats with our Spaghetti properly cooked, seasoned and with sauce. We furnish containers if you desire to take a goodly portion of Oysters or Spaghetti home.

More Opportunity For Workers

Opportunities in United States Are More Numerous Than Ever—Industrial Development Multiplies Variety of Chances of Livelihood and Wealth.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 5, (Special).—Where 100 or 200 years ago virgin lands beckoned the pioneer to seize the opportunities held by an as yet undeveloped country, industrial development in the last 50 years has multiplied many times the opportunities for the individual of gaining a livelihood or amassing wealth. The rapidly increasing mechanization of our entire mode of living, with every new achievement creating new requirements, is traced in an analysis of changes in the occupational distribution of the population of the United States, during the half century ending in 1920, and graphically portrayed in a chart prepared by the National Industrial Conference Board, 247 Park avenue, New York.

Industries Increase, Fewer Farmers.

Outstanding in the Conference Board's analysis is the immense increase in the proportionate number of people engaged in manufacturing and the mechanical industries, with a correlative and even greater increase in the number of those occupied in mining, as against the decline, always in proportion to total population, of those engaged in agriculture. Workers in the manufacturing and mechanical industries numbered 65,148 per million inhabitants in 1870, but in 1920, 121,265 per million inhabitants, an increase, according to the Conference Board's analysis, of more than 85 per cent in 50 years. The number of farmers and planters, per million population, during th esame period decreased from 77,320 to 57,550, a decline of 25.6 per cent, the board points out. The number of farm laborers declined even more, from 74,848 to 37,544 per million inhabitants, or by nearly 50 per cent. While this in part probably is ascribaable to increased use of agricultural machinery, the census figures relating to farm laborers are not strictly comparable, in the view of the board, as the 1920 census was taken in mid-winter, when farm work is practically at a standstill, while earlier censuses had been taken always in the spring or summer. Another modifying factor to be considered in this connection, it is pointed out, is the effect of consolidation of farm holdings, not, however, sufficient to offset the fact of an absolute decline of farmers in proportion to population during the 50 years.

How Machinery Affects Industries.

Significant in industrial life is the enormous increase of iron and steel workers, machinists, engineers and others in related occupations. The proportionally much smaller increase of individuals engaged in the printing trades, in the view of the conference board reflects the high development of modern printing machinery and labor saving equipment. The replacement of handwork by machinery likewise is reflected in the decrease, in proportion to population, of boot and shoe makers, carpenters, cabinet makers and others. The increased use of machinery, however, in turn is responsible for the growth of the iron and steel and mechanical industries.

Transportation Employment Changes

Illuminating as regards the change in our mode of travelling are the comparative figures of people engaged in transportation and trades related to it. There are first, railroad workers, numbering 3,990 per million population in 1870, as against 12,818 per million in 1920, an increase, in proportion to population of more than 220 per cent. On the other hand, the passing of the sailing vessel and the rise of the steamboat, but also the decline of the merchant marine from earlier days before Europe well-nigh monopolized transatlantic traffic, all are reflected in the sharp decline of "sailors and deckhands", from 1,470 to 519 per million population.

From Horse to Auto.

A touch of pathos is contained in this kaleidoscope of the changing work of the world: the passing of the horse. As far as figures go, it is told in one small item in this table of impressive percentages, but none the less significant. Blacksmiths, in 1870, 3,677 per million inhabitants. A busy and flourishing trade, then. Blacksmiths in 1920, 1,847 per million, or about one half. The automobile has come, first, a curiosity; then, a luxury, then a necessity, until more people today own automobiles than before owned horses, in the United States, and it is horse travel that belongs in the class of luxuries.

Fewer Domestics, More Manicurists.

What every housewife of more than ten years' experience knows, is strikingly apparent in the number of domestic servants as charted for the 50 years. In 1870, 25,337 per million inhabitants; in 1920, 16,285, a decrease of nearly 36 per cent. The number of hair dressers, barbers and manicurists, on the other hand, increased from 621 to 2,045 per million population, reflecting increase in general prosperity as well as the concomitant sophistication in the mode of living.

Clerical Employes Increase.

The change from the individually managed small business enterprises to corporate management of great industrial establishments, and the incidental requirement of increased bookkeeping, correspondent and accounting, and, to a degree, the rise and development of the statistical science and profession is reflected strikingly in the item of clerical occupations, which enjoy by far the greatest increased of all cited in the census figures. Clerical office employes, in 1870, numbered 1,926 per million inhabitants. In 1920, they amounted to 26,631 per million population, an increase, according to the conference board's graph, of more than 1,286 per cent.

Plumbers and Physicians.

Increased sanitation and attention given to hygiene and rising living standards are reflected in the increase of plumbers, gas and steamfitters, which in 1870 numbered 282, in 1920, 1,956 per million inhabitants. Significant, in connection with this development, is the decrease in the number of physicians and surgeons, declining from 1,416 to 1,272 per million population during the fifty years covered by the conference board's analytic cross section of occupational life in the United States.

Madras-Bombay In Dry Race

Big Provinces of India Seek to Determine Which Will Have Prohibition First—One Rations the Supply, the Other Maps Up Its Districts.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Bombay, India, Oct. 5.—Bombay and Madras provinces, comprising together about one-fourth of British India, are engaged in a race to determine which of the two provinces will achieve total prohibition first.

The two provinces are attacking the problem in different ways. Bombay is rationing the supply by regulating the amount of liquor which which may be sold within the province. Madras has embarked upon a policy of making the province dry by instituting prohibition in one small district after another.

Bombay officials hope to achieve total prohibition within 20 years. Madras is working to achieve the same result, by a different process, even sooner.

Immediately after the Montague-Chelmsford reforms in 1921, which gave the legislative councils of the various provinces control of the excise, the Bombay council adopted a policy of rationing. In three years, from April, 1921, to April, 1924, they had reduced the consumption of liquor in Bombay province from 2,800,000 gallons annually to 1,800,000 gallons. At the same time the strength of liquor which is allowed to be sold has been reduced one-half.

Trouble in Cities.

Officials are experiencing most difficulty in the cities. Inhabitants of 20 cities in Bombay province account for one-half of the total liquor consumption of the province. Bombay city itself consumes half of the total of the 20 towns; in other words, one-fourth of the total of the entire province.

Nevertheless, since the system of rationing went into effect, Bombay consumption has been cut by 30 per cent.

Bombay officials are opposed to local option, the system by which America went dry gradually. They believe that total prohibition will be achieved more quickly by the system of rationing than in any other way.

Recently the Bombay legislative council passed a law compelling clubs to apply for licenses to sell liquor. Heretofore Bombay club life was absolutely free. The two British members of the council alone refused to endorse the new law.

Prohibition schemes were first introduced into Bombay, in fact into all of India, by Sir C. N. Mehta, now a member of the executive council of the Governor of Bombay. In 1921, when he first secured assent to his new ideas he was Minister of Excise His most optimistic report is that prohibition will be achieved in Bombay province within ten years.

Different in Madras.

In Madras province the process adopted has been different. In April, 1924, the legislative council forced total prohibition upon the Tenkasi Taluka, a small sub-division of the province and known as one of the "wettest" of all India. In a year's time there has been only one case of illicit sale of liquor in Tenkasi, that by a notorious bandit who was caught and sentenced heavily on his previous record of banditry.

So successful was the experiment that an excise conference held recently at Ootacamund, the summer capital, presided over by Sir A. P. Patro, the excise minister, it was decided to extend this system of tractional prohibition, making different sections of the province "dry" one after the other, as well as adopting a partial system of rationing similar to the Bombay scheme.

The conference decided to exert all possible energy to achieve prohibition before Bombay.

Other provinces are watching the results achieved by Bombay and Madras and it is expected that they will adopt similar procedure.

Heavy Mountain Work

At El Milargo, 4,000 feet above sea level in a very lonely part of the cloud-covered Cordo Merida mountains of Venezuela, is one of the most unusual hydro-electric generating stations in the world. All of the equipment of the station, which supplies electricity to the Venezuelan city of Valencia, had to be specially designed so that it might be transported in sections on the backs of pack mules. Also with concrete and other supplies likewise brought to El Milargo by trains of pack mules the engineers in charge of this project have built a 2,000,000-gallon water storage reservoir and a concrete canal which diverts the water to the hydro-electric plant.

Pole Preservation

Preservative treatment of telephone poles and crossarms greatly prolongs their life. It is estimated that $25,000,000 will be saved by such treatment of the poles and crossarms now in service in the Bell system.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

by Mary Graham Bonner

FANCY DRESS PARTY

"I haven't had a party in ever so long," said Witty Witch. "I shall give one tomorrow evening in my biggest cave of all, and I want all of you to come, and all of you to tell all the rest of you who are not around now to be sure and come tomorrow evening.

The Fairy Queen.

"It will be a fancy dress party."

It was true Witty Witch hadn't had a party in quite a long time.

So there was great excitement getting ready for it. She had tall candles outside her cave and in the biggest cave of all (which was a big cave no one knew about but the Fairyland people) were candles and candlesticks and decorations of autumn leaves and a few last remaining autumn flowers.

Hanging from the trees all the way up the path leading to her outside cave were lanterns and the Stars and Mr. Moon received special invitations to be on hand—or "in sky."

"I will have a final dance outside," Witty Witch said, "as you won't be able to see inside the cave."

"But I can see all the costumes," said Mr. Moon, "and I'm sure I will find it a jolly affair."

Then inside the cave Witty Witch had great paper-made copies of different animals and birds and fishes, and these were gorgeously painted, and inside, just as though they were lanterns, there were different colored lights which made the animals and birds look gorgeously colorful, and beautifully lighted up.

She had decorations of all sorts that were gay—everything was bright.

And there were some lights that could change colors when moved about and turned by Mr. Giant, who was very helpful in arranging the decorations.

The Cave was just a good height for him, and he could hang anything without requiring a stepladder, so he was very useful, as he enjoyed being.

Well, the next evening everyone came to the party. And you must hear about the costumes.

The Fairies came dressed as pirates. How wild they did look!

The Fairy Queen had the funniest looking black, straggly hair on her head, and a red coat and brown breeches and great, tall boots and a red handkerchief about her head.

All the other fairies were her assistant pirates.

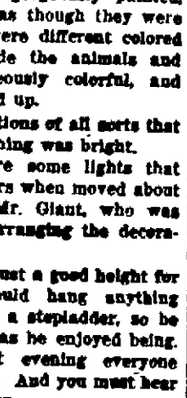
The Elves came dressed as mermaids and seaweed. Effie Elf looked so lovely with green and silver wound about her long, fair hair, and a winding green silk dress draped about her.

She was quite exquisite.

The Brownies came looking like deep-sea divers—only they took off their helmets as soon as the games and dancing commenced.

The members of the Oaf family came dressed as ladies and gentlemen of olden times with handsome laces and satins and white powdered wigs.

The members of the Bogey family came as ladies and gentlemen of the Far East, wearing most beautiful costumes. They were very much admired.



Effie Elf Looked So Lovely.

The Gnomes came as shipwrecked mariners and looked as dreadful as they could look, which amused everyone hugely.

Witty Witch wore the costume of Mother Goose, and Mr. Giant was dressed to look like Jack the Giant Killer.

After the games and the dancing and the supper everyone sang songs and did "stunts."

And then, after that, they all went out of doors and played "I spy" and other games in and out of the trees, and danced too.

Then Mr. Moon and all the stars shone down and twinkled merrily and said:

"We can enjoy this, too. Oh, this is worth looking down upon. This is a real party."

His Favorite Word

"I told that boy," remarked the teacher "to remain after school and write some word 100 times. But I don't think it was any great punishment."

"Why not?"

"I noticed that he wrote the word 'Rosie' 100 times with an ecstatic smile."

What can an individual do but just distribute such gifts as he has to give, which increases the chances for happiness by increasing the appetite for the things of the spirit.—Edward Yeomans.

AUTUMN DISHES

If fond of corn try this:

Squaw Dish.—Cut from the cob as much corn as the family will eat, using tender sweet corn. Into an iron skillet or deep frying pan put plenty of butter to season the corn well—the more the better. When the butter is melted but not brown, turn in the corn and stir until well mixed with butter; stir until well cooked—probably five to ten minutes will be sufficient. Serve with crisp fried bacon.

Corn Toast.—Cook one-fourth of a tablespoonful of fairly chopped onion with one and one-half tablespoonfuls of butter two minutes, stirring constantly. Add one cupful of sweet corn cut from the cob and lightly cook for five minutes in just water to cook without burning; add salt and pepper, and one pint of thick cream; simmer for five minutes and pour over six slices of buttered toast cut into rounds. Garnish with toast points and parsley.

Corn and Potato Salad.—Any leftover corn cut from the cob added to an ordinary potato salad is an added flavor which makes variety.

Canton Cream.—Soak one tablespoonful of gelatin in one-fourth of a cupful of cold water, add it to a custard, using one cupful of milk, two egg yolks, one-fourth of a cupful of sugar and a dash of salt. Strain, chill in a pan of ice water, add one tablespoonful of vanilla, three of ginger strup and one-fourth of a cupful of canton ginger cut into small pieces. When the mixture begins to thicken, fold in the whip from two and one-half cupfuls of coffee cream. Mold and chill.

Bisque of Oysters.—Clean, pick over and parboil until the edges curl, one quart of oysters. Brown three tablespoonfuls of butter, add three tablespoonfuls of flour, the oyster liquor and pour over gradually, stirring constantly. Season well, add the oysters and just before serving, a cupful of cream. Serve hot.

When a small amount of meat must be extended to make the main dish, add vegetables, rice or macaroni.

Old Ironsides and Dewey's Flagship

Visitors Will Be Welcomed Aboard Famous Warships at Navy Yard Adjacent to Philadelphia Exposition Next Year.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—The fifty or more millions of visitors to the Sesquicentennial International Exposition will be welcomed aboard two famous old warships, the "Constitution," "Old Ironsides," and the "Olympia," which are to be restored to their former condition and moored at the Philadelphia Navy Yard adjacent to the Exposition grounds.

Whether their battered and timeworn hulks are splintered wood and rusted iron or dented steel and tarnished brass, hero ships, gallant vessels that have won their place in history as the nation's bulwark in times of stress by turning back the onrush of the enemy, always hold a poignant thrill for the patriot.

Chief among the American ships whose stirring victories in other days won immortelles for their dauntless crews and deathless honors for themselves are the "Constitution" and the "Olympia."

"Old Ironsides" 1812 Relic.

The "Constitution," "Old Ironsides" of song and story, wrote a thundering chapter in American naval history by her successive defeats of British frigates during the War of 1812. Her victory over the "Guerriere," pride of the British Navy, placed the American Navy on a par with any in the world.

The old frigate, restored in 1830 through popular sentiment aroused by Oliver Wendell Holmes's poem, "Old Ironsides," after she had been condemned as unseaworthy, is again in a state of disrepair. She lies in the Boston Navy Yard, her hull worm-eaten and rotted.

The sum of $475,000, raised by popular subscription in Boston and vicinity, will be spent in reconditioning the "Constitution" and bringing her to Philadelphia.

Olympia Dewey's Ship.

The "Olympia," Admiral Dewey's flagship, the gleaming vessel that led the American fleet into Manila Bay that bright morning of May 1, 1898, is a ship of steel and brass, a fighting machine of terrible efficiency. But like the "Constitution," her mantle of lasting honor was earned by a crew whose hearts were fired by the flame of heroism.

Today the "Olympia" lies in the Philadelphia Navy Yard, her commission pennant furled, her decks unscoured and her brasswork tarnished. But her gallant service at Manila Bay and her solemnly proud honor in bringing to America the body of the Unknown Soldier who lies buried in Arlington Cemetery have not been forgotten.

The "Olympia" and "Old Ironsides" will lie at docks in the Philadelphia Navy Yard during the six months of the Exposition. Sesqui visitors may stand on the very spot on the "Olympia's" bridge from which Admiral Dewey opened the battle of Manila Bay with his historic order "You may fire when ready, Gridley."

HIGH WOODS.

High Woods, Oct. 5.—Mrs. Alex Felten and Mrs. Wilson Ackerman called on Mrs. Alex Puzdrick on Thursday afternoon.

Lewis E. Snyder and son, Edward, attended the musical entertainment held in the Congregational Church in Saugerties on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krilenwood went to New York on Sunday. They have sold their home there and have purchased another in Woodlawn, to where they will remove next month.

Mrs. Anna C. Snyder and daughter, Dora, attended the town Sunday school convention in Malden last Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Short and two sons, Harry and Jerry, Jr., spent Saturday and Sunday with his cousin, Mrs. Millie Ackerman.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Longendyke and Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Carle had a pleasant auto trip through the Eastern States last week.

The Rev. J. B. Steketee, classical missionary, was here last Sunday afternoon. His text was St. John 12:32. He administered the rite of baptism to the children of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Myer.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Shortt, their three children and Anna C. Shader were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Hart in Schenectady on Sunday.

Mary J. Carle has returned home after spending two weeks with her nephew, Lewis E. Snyder, and family. Mrs. Snyder had a severe cold and his son, Clifford, was seriously ill with grip.

Miss Sarah Myer, who has been spending the summer with her niece, Mrs. Herbert Wolven, has returned to Schenectady with her friend, Mrs. Stirling, who also spent a short time there.

May Revive Old Court

An Oxford (England) undergraduate is to be tried in the ordinary courts of justice on a charge of manslaughter arising out of a motor accident. The frequency of motor smashes in which undergraduates are concerned and the gravity of their attendant consequences has led a famous law don to suggest that the court of the lord high steward should try and punish the offenders.

This university court has been in existence since 1400, although it has not tried a case since a century before the days of Blackstone.

FORT ONTARIO IS LANDMARK

Stronghold Dates Back to Colonial Days—Once a British Fort.

New York.—Because of its historic association and picturesque appearance, Fort Ontario is one of the show places of northern New York visited by tourists from all parts of the United States and Canada.

One of the oldest and most noted landmarks on the North American continent, the old fort stands on the same site and is constructed on the same plan as the maps of the French and British show it 200 years ago.

Construction of the fort began by British and colonial troops in 1755. Its site, an elevated position looking out on Lake Ontario and commanding the mouth of the Oswego river from its east bank, was selected by Gov. William Shirley of Massachusetts and Sir William Pepperell.

Is Star Shaped.

The stronghold was completed in the spring of 1756.

It was then built of logs, with outer walls fourteen feet in height and with a circumference of 800 feet. The plan was pentagon, on each angle of which was constructed a bastion, giving the general outline of a five-pointed star.

In 1759 the fort was a rendezvous for 2,000 British under Gen. John Prideaux and 1,000 Indians under Sir William Johnson.

The fort was destroyed by American troops in 1778, under orders from Colonel Gansevoort, who wished thereby to prevent its reoccupation by the British.

The British after the treaty of peace in 1783 continued to hold the northern forts, demanding certain indemnities from Virginia loyalists who sustained property losses during the Revolution.

Jay's treaty settled the dispute and in 1796 the British began evacuating. Fort Ontario was the last post to surrender.

In July, 1812, the post was occupied by nine companies of militia, and some attempt was made to repair it by Colonel George Fleming. It was fired on in June, 1813, by several armed British vessels, but the fort batteries and the American ship Growler returned the fire and the hostile fleet retired.

Fort Ontario was not occupied by regular troops until November, 1838. The lands comprising the military reservation were conveyed to the United States by the state of New York on April 25, 1839. Between 1839 and 1846 the fort and barracks were rebuilt at a cost of $95,000.

The new post, which lies to the east of old Fort Ontario, is modern in every respect. All buildings are of red brick and were built between 1903 and 1905 at a cost of $320,000. The fort was used as a general hospital during the world war and about 20 temporary buildings were erected there in 1917-18.

Resembles Ancient Castle.

The entire military reservation has an area of 75.9 acres. The old fort, which stands at its most elevated point, is about 2,500 feet in circumference, and its outer walls, of sandstone, are, with concrete reinforcements, about 5 feet thick and from 8 to 15 feet in height. Behind these walls is an earth work about 20 feet in height and 25 feet in thickness.

Five stone vaulted casement interiors penetrate the earthwork, commanding, through slotted, iron-doored loopholes, all strategic approaches to the fortification.

These casements are reached by way of stone stairways descending from the top of the earthern parapet. An outer earthwork once extended about the greater portion of the fort's circumference, permitting the formation of a moat about 20 feet in width, but this was leveled when construction of the modern post began in 1903.

Fort Ontario is immediately adjacent to the city of Oswego.

Love for Accuracy Traps Man Accused of Robbery

Carlisle, Pa.—His passion for accuracy proved the undoing of Luther Smith of Reading. Smith was arrested on the charge of robbing the home of William Hollinger, a milk dealer of Hogestown. At a hearing before Justice Mishler of Mechanicsburg, Hollinger was asked as to the amount stolen, and stated it was between $20 and $25 and a revolver.

"About how much in pennies?" the justice asked.

"Between $13 and $14," said Hollinger.

Smith, who had been arrested on suspicion, jumped to his feet.

"No, sir, that's wrong," he exclaimed. "When I cashed in the pennies at the cigar store I only got $8.35."

"Two thousand dollars bail," said the squire, and he was committed to the jail here.

Gem Found in Old Purse

Pasadena, Cal.—Downtown shoppers passing the corner of Colorado street and Raymond avenue saw a dirty old purse lying on the pavement. Many kicked it, and finally it came to rest in the gutter. C. A. Burmester, rather than take the chance of puncturing his tire while parking, picked the much-booted purse up. Inside he found a diamond ring valued at $2,000.

STATE OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE

Albany, September 14, 1925.

PURSUANT to the provisions of section eighty of the Election Law, the following proposed amendments to the constitution, designated as Proposed Amendments numbers One to Four inclusive, will be submitted to the voters of this State for approval at the General Election on November third, nineteen hundred and twenty-five.

FLORENCE E. S. KNAPP,
Secretary of State.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

§ 15. In addition to any other debt, authorized by or pursuant to this article, the legislature, in each of the ten calendar years following the adoption of this section, may authorize by law the creation of a debt or debts, not exceeding in the aggregate in any such year the sum of ten million dollars, to provide moneys for the acquisition by the state of real property and for the construction of buildings, works and improvements for the state, or for any one or more of such objects. The provisions of this article, not inconsistent with this section, relating to the issuance of bonds for a debt or debts of the state and the maturity and payment thereof, shall apply to a state debt or debts created pursuant to this section, except that the law authorizing the contracting of such debt or debts shall take effect without submission to the people pursuant to section four of this article.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

§ 14. The legislature may authorize by law the creation of a debt or debts of the state, not exceeding in the aggregate three hundred million dollars, to provide moneys for the elimination, under state supervision, of railroad crossings at grade within the state, at the expense of the state, railroad companies, cities, towns and villages. Of the expense of a grade crossing elimination to which any of the proceeds of such a debt are applied, twenty-five per centum shall be borne by the state, twenty-five per centum by the city, town or village, and fifty per centum by the railroad company. Laws shall be enacted to provide, so far as practicable, for repayment to the state of moneys advanced in aid of railroad companies, cities, towns and villages, at such times, in such manner and with interest at such rate, that the state shall be able to pay when due the portion of the state debt equal to the proceeds which shall have been so advanced, and interest thereon. The provisions of this article, not inconsistent with this section, relating to the issuance of bonds for a debt or debts of the state and the maturity and payment thereof, shall apply to a state debt or debts created pursuant to this section; except that the law authorizing the contracting of such debt or debts shall take effect without submission to the people pursuant to section four of this article.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE.

§ 1. The comptroller and attorney-general shall be chosen at a general election, at the times and places of electing the governor and lieutenant-governor, and shall hold office for the same term as the governor and lieutenant-governor. The comptroller shall be required: (1) To audit all vouchers before payment and all official accounts; (2) to audit the accrual and collection of all revenues and receipts; and (3) to prescribe such methods of accounting as are necessary for the performance of the foregoing duties. In such respect the legislature shall define his powers and duties and may also assign to him supervision of the accounts of any political subdivision of the state, but shall assign to him no administrative duties, excepting such as may be incidental to the performance of these functions, any other provision of this constitution to the contrary notwithstanding. Each of the officers in this article named shall, at stated times during his continuance in office receive for his services a compensation which shall not be increased during the term for which he shall have been elected; nor shall he receive to his use any fees or perquisites of office or other compensation.

§ 2. There shall be the following civil departments in the state government: First, executive; second, audit and control; third, taxation and finance; fourth, law; fifth, state; sixth, public works; seventh, architecture; eighth, conservation; ninth, agriculture and markets; tenth, labor; eleventh, education; twelfth, health; thirteenth, mental hygiene; fourteenth, charities; fifteenth, correction; sixteenth, public service; seventeenth, banking; eighteenth, insurance; nineteenth, civil service; twentieth, military and naval affairs.

§ 3. At the session immediately following the adoption of this article the legislature shall provide by law for the appropriate assignment to take effect not earlier than the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six, of all the civil, administrative and executive functions of the state government, to the several departments in this article provided. Subject to the limitations contained in this constitution, the legislature may from time to time assign by law new powers and functions to departments, officers, boards or commissions continued or created under this constitution, and increase, modify or diminish their powers and functions. No specific grant of power herein to a department shall prevent the legislature from conferring additional powers upon such department. No new departments shall be created hereafter, but this shall not prevent the legislature from creating temporary commissions for special purposes and nothing contained in this article shall prevent the legislature from reducing the number of departments as provided for in this article, by consolidation or otherwise. The elective state officers in office at the time this article as amended takes effect shall continue in office until the end of the terms for which they were elected. Pending the assignment of the civil, administrative and executive functions by the legislature pursuant to the directions of this section, the powers and duties of the several departments, boards, commissions and officers now existing are continued. Subject to the power of the legislature to reduce the number of officers, when the powers and duties of any existing office are assigned to any department, the officers exercising such powers shall continue in office in such department, and their term of office shall not be shortened by such assignment.

§ 4. The head of the department of audit and control shall be the comptroller and of the department of law, the attorney-general. The head of the department of education shall be the regents of the university of the state of New York, who shall appoint and at pleasure remove a commissioner of education to be the chief administrative officer of the department. The head of the department of agriculture and markets shall be appointed in a manner to be prescribed by law. Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, the heads of all other departments and the members of all boards and commissions mentioned in this article, excepting temporary commissions for special purposes, shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate and may be removed by the governor, in a manner to be prescribed by law.

§ 5. All offices for the weighing, gauging, measuring, culling or inspecting any merchandise, produce, manufacture or commodity whatever, are hereby abolished; and no such office shall hereafter be created by law; but nothing in this section contained shall abrogate any office created for the purpose of protecting the public health or the interests of the state in its property, revenue, tolls or purchases, or of supplying the people with correct standards of weights and measures, or shall prevent the creation of any office for such purposes hereafter.

§ 6. Appointments and promotions in the civil service of the state, and of all the civil divisions thereof, including cities and villages, shall be made according to merit and fitness to be ascertained, as far as practicable, by examination, which, so far as practicable, shall be competitive; provided, however, that honorably discharged soldiers and sailors from the army and navy of the United States in the late civil war, who are citizens and residents of this state, shall be entitled to preference in appointment and promotion, without regard to their standing on any list from which such appointment or promotion may be made. Laws shall be made to provide for the enforcement of this section.

§ 11. The legislature shall provide for a state board of charities, which shall visit and inspect all institutions, whether state, county, municipal, incorporated or not incorporated, which are of a charitable, eleemosynary, correctional or reformatory character, excepting state institutions for the education and support of the blind and the deaf and dumb, and excepting also such institutions as are hereby made subject to the visitation and inspection of either of the authorities hereinafter mentioned, but including all reformatories for juveniles. The head of the department of mental hygiene shall visit and inspect all institutions, either public or private, used for the care and treatment of the insane, epileptics, idiots, feeble-minded or mentally defective. There shall be a state commission of correction, of which the head of the department of correction shall be the chairman, which shall visit and inspect all institutions used for the detention of sane adults charged with or convicted of crime, or detained as witnesses or debtors.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR.

ARTICLE VI.

Section 1. The supreme court is continued with general jurisdiction in law and equity, subject to such appellate jurisdiction of the court of appeals as now is or hereafter may be prescribed by law not inconsistent with this article. The existing judicial districts of the state are continued until changed as hereinafter provided. The supreme court shall consist of the justices now in office and their successors, together with such additional justices as may be authorized by law. The successors of said justices shall be chosen by the electors of their respective judicial districts. The legislature may alter the judicial districts once after every federal census or state enumeration, each district being bounded by county lines, and thereupon re-apportion the justices to be thereafter elected in the districts so altered.

The legislature may from time to time increase the number of justices in any judicial district, except the number of justices in any district shall not be increased to exceed one justice for each sixty thousand, or fraction over thirty-five thousand, of the population thereof as shown by the last federal census or state enumeration. Any justice of the supreme court, except as otherwise provided in this article, may perform the duties of his office or hold court in any county.

Section 2. The division of the state into four judicial departments is continued as now constituted by law. Once every ten years, the legislature may alter the boundaries of the judicial departments, but without increasing the number thereof, and each department shall be bounded by the lines of judicial districts. The appellate divisions of the supreme court are continued, and shall consist of seven justices of the supreme court in each of the first and second departments, and five justices in each of the other departments. In each appellate division, four justices shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of three shall be necessary to a decision. No more than five justices shall sit in any case.

The governor shall designate the presiding justice of each appellate division, who shall act as such during his term of office and shall be a resident of the department. The other justices of the appellate divisions shall be designated by the governor, from all the justices elected to the supreme court, for terms of five years or the unexpired portions of their respective terms of office, if less than five years. The justices heretofore designated shall continue to sit in the appellate divisions until the terms of their respective designations shall expire. From time to time as the terms of the designations expire, or vacancies occur, the governor shall make new designations. He may also, on request of any appellate division, make temporary designations in case of the absence or inability to act of any justice in such appellate division, for service only during such absence or inability to act. In case any appellate division shall certify to the governor that one or more additional justices are needed for the speedy disposition of the business before it, the governor shall designate an additional justice or additional justices; but when the need for such additional justice or justices shall no longer exist, the appellate division shall so certify to the governor, and thereupon service under such designation or designations shall cease. A majority of the justices designated to sit in any appellate division shall at all times be residents of the department.

Whenever the appellate division in any department shall be unable to dispose of its business within a reasonable time, a majority of the presiding justices of the several departments, at a meeting called by the presiding justice of the department in arrears, may transfer any pending appeals from such department to any other department for hearing and determination.

The several appellate divisions, except as hereinafter provided, shall have and exercise such original or appellate jurisdiction as is now or may hereafter be prescribed by law. Each appellate division shall have power to appoint and remove its clerk and attendants. No justice of the appellate division shall, within the department to which he may be designated to perform the duties of an appellate justice, exercise any of the powers of a justice of the supreme court, other than those of a justice out of court, and those pertaining to the appellate division, except that he may decide causes or proceedings theretofore submitted, or hear and decide motions submitted by consent of counsel, but any such justice, when not actually engaged in performing the duties of such appellate justice in the department to which he is designated, may hold any term of the supreme court and exercise any of the powers of a justice of the supreme court in any judicial district in any other department of the state. From and after the last day of December, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, the appellate division shall have the jurisdiction now exercised by the supreme court at its general terms and by the general terms of the court of common pleas for the city and county of New York, the superior court of the city of New York, the superior court of Buffalo and the city of Brooklyn, and such additional jurisdiction as may be conferred by the legislature. The justices of the appellate division in each department shall have power to fix the times and places for holding special and trial terms of the supreme court held therein and to assign the justices in the departments to hold such terms; or to make rules therefor.

Section 3. The appellate divisions in the first and second departments shall severally have power to establish an appellate term of the supreme court to be held in and for its department, to be constituted of not less than three nor more than five justices of the supreme court, who shall be designated from time to time by such appellate division and shall be residents of the department. Any such appellate term may be discontinued and re-established as said appellate divisions, respectively, from time to time shall determine, and any designation to service therein may be revoked at any time by the appellate division so designating. In each appellate term, no more than three justices assigned thereto shall sit in any case; two of such justices shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of two shall be necessary to a decision. Such appellate terms shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine all appeals now or hereafter authorized by law to be taken to the supreme court or to the appellate division other than appeals from the supreme court, a surrogate's court, or the court of general sessions of the city of New York, as may from time to time be directed by the appellate division establishing such appellate term. The appellate term or the appellate division establishing it may allow an appeal from such appellate term to such appellate division whenever in the opinion of either a question of law or fact is involved which ought to be reviewed.

Section 4. The official terms of the justices of the supreme court shall be fourteen years from and including the first day of January next after their election. When a vacancy shall occur otherwise than by expiration of term in the office of justice of the supreme court, the same shall be filled for a full term at the next general election held not less than three months after such vacancy occurs; and, until the vacancy shall be so filled, the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, if the senate shall be in session, or if not in session, the governor may fill such vacancy by appointment, which shall continue until and including the last day of December next after the election at which the vacancy shall be filled.

Section 5. The court of appeals is continued. It shall consist of the chief judge, the six elected associate judges now in office, who shall hold their offices until the expiration of their respective terms, and their successors, who shall be chosen by the electors of the state, and such justices of the supreme court as may be designated for service in said court as hereinafter provided. The official terms of the chief judge and elected associate judges shall be fourteen years from and including the first day of January next after their election. Five members of the court shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of four shall be necessary to a decision; but no more than seven judges shall sit in any case. In case of the temporary absence or inability to act of any judge of the court of appeals, the court may designate any justice of the supreme court to serve as associate judge of the court during such absence or inability to act. The court shall have power to appoint and to remove its clerk and attendants.

Whenever and as often as the court of appeals shall certify to the governor that the court is unable, by reason of the accumulation of causes pending therein, to hear and dispose of the same with reasonable speed, the governor shall designate such number of justices of the supreme court as may be so certified to be necessary, but not more than four, to serve as associate judges of the court of appeals. The justices so designated shall be relieved, while so serving, from their duties as justices of the supreme court, and shall serve as associate judges of the court of appeals until the court shall certify that the need for the services of any such justices no longer exists, whereupon they shall return to the supreme court. The governor may fill vacancies among such designated judges. No such justice shall serve as associate judge of the court of appeals except while holding the office of justice of the supreme court. The designation of a justice of the supreme court as an associate judge of the court of appeals shall not be deemed to affect his existing office any longer than until the expiration of his designation as such associate judge, nor to create a vacancy.

Section 6. When a vacancy shall occur otherwise than by expiration of term, in the office of chief or elected associate judge of the court of appeals, the same shall be filled, for a full term, at the next general election held not less than three months after such vacancy occurs; and until the vacancy shall be so filled, the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate if the senate shall be in session, or if not in session, the governor may fill such vacancy by appointment. If any such appointment be made from among the justices of the supreme court, such appointment shall not be deemed to affect his existing office any longer than until the expiration of his appointment as such associate judge, nor to create a vacancy. If any such appointment of chief judge shall be made from among the associate judges, a temporary appointment of associate judge shall be made in like manner; but, in such case, the appointment shall not be deemed to affect his office of associate judge any longer than until the expiration of his appointment as chief judge, nor to create a vacancy. The powers and jurisdiction of the court shall not be suspended for want of appointment or election when the number of judges is sufficient to constitute a quorum. All appointments under this section shall continue until and including the last day of December next after election at which the vacancy shall be filled.

Section 7. The jurisdiction of the court of appeals, except where the judgment is of death, or where the appellate division, on reversing or modifying a final judgment in an action or a final order in a special proceeding, makes new findings of fact and renders final judgment or a final order thereon, shall be limited to the review of questions of law; but the right to appeal shall not depend upon the amount involved.

Appeals may be taken to the court of appeals in the classes of cases enumerated in this section.

In criminal cases, directly from a court of original jurisdiction where the judgment is of death, and in other criminal cases from an appellate division or otherwise as the legislature may from time to time provide.

In civil cases and proceeding as follows:

(1) As of right, from a judgment or order entered upon the decision of an appellate division of the supreme court which finally determines an action or special proceeding wherein is directly involved the construction of the constitution of the state or of the United States, or where one or more of the justices of the appellate division dissents from the decision of the court, or where the judgment or order is one of reversal or modification.

(2) As of right, from an order of the appellate division granting a new trial where the appellant stipulates that, upon affirmance, judgment absolute shall be rendered against him.

(3) As of right, from a judgment or order of a court of record of original jurisdiction which finally determines an action or special proceedings where the only question involved on the appeal is the validity of a statutory provision of the state or of the United States under the constitution of the state or of the United States; and on any such appeal only the constitutional question shall be considered and determined by the court.

(4) From a determination of the appellate division of the supreme court in any department, other than a judgment or order which finally determines an action or special proceeding, where the appellate division allows the same and certifies that one or more questions of law have arisen which, in its opinion, ought to be reviewed by the court of appeals, but in such case the appeal shall bring up for review only the question or questions so certified; and the court of appeals shall certify to the appellate division its determination upon such question or questions.

(5) From a judgment or order entered upon the decision of an appellate division of the supreme court which finally determines an action or special proceeding but which is not appealable under subdivision one of this section where the appellate division shall certify that in its opinion a question of law is involved which ought to be reviewed by the court of appeals, or where, in case of the refusal so to certify, an appeal is allowed by the court of appeals. Such an appeal shall be allowed when required in the interest of substantial justice. The legislature may further restrict the jurisdiction of the court of appeals and the right of appeal thereto. No appeal shall be taken to said court of appeals from a final judgment or order of the appellate division in any civil case or proceeding originally commenced in any court other than the supreme court, a county court, a surrogate's court, or a court of claims or board of audit unless the appellate division of the supreme court shall certify that in its opinion a question of law is involved which ought to be reviewed by the court of appeals.

Section 8. Upon an appeal from a judgment or an order, any appellate court to which the appeal is taken which is authorized to review such judgment or order may reverse or affirm, wholly or in part, or may modify the judgment or order appealed from, and each interlocutory judgment or intermediate or other order which it is authorized to review, and as to any or all of the parties. It shall thereupon render judgment of affirmance, judgment of reversal and final judgment upon the right of any or all of the parties, or judgment of modification thereon according to law, except where it may be necessary or proper to grant a new trial or hearing, when it may grant a new trial or hearing.

Section 9. Judges of the court of appeals and justices of the supreme court may be removed by concurrent resolution of both houses of the legislature, if two-thirds of all the members elected to each house concur therein. All other judicial officers, except justices of the peace, justices of the municipal court of the city of New York, and judges or justices of inferior courts not of record, may be removed by the senate, on the recommendation of the governor, if two-thirds of all the members elected to the senate concur therein. But no officer shall be removed by virtue of this section except for cause, which shall be entered on the journals, nor unless he shall have been served with a statement of the cause alleged, and shall have had an opportunity to be heard. On the question of removal, the yeas and nays shall be entered on the journal.

Section 10. The assembly shall have the power of impeachment by a vote of a majority of all the members elected thereto. The court for the trial of impeachments shall be composed of the president of the senate, the senators, or the major part of them, and the judges of the court of appeals, or the major part of them. On the trial of an impeachment against the governor or lieutenant-governor, neither the lieutenant-governor nor the temporary president of the senate shall act as a member of the court. No judicial officer shall exercise his office after articles of impeachment against him shall have been preferred to the senate, until he shall have been acquitted. Before the trial of an impeachment, the members of the court shall take an oath or affirmation truly and impartially to try the impeachment according to the evidence, and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present. Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, or removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any public office of honor, trust, or profit under this state; but the party impeached shall be liable to indictment and punishment according to law.

Section 11. The existing county courts are continued, and the judges thereof now in office shall hold their offices until the expiration of their respective terms. In the county of Kings there shall be five county judges and in the county of Bronx two county judges. The number of county judges in any county may also be increased, from time to time, by the legislature, to such number that the total number of county judges in any one county shall not exceed one for every two hundred thousand, or major fraction thereof, of the population of such county. The additional county judge in the county of Bronx shall be chosen at the general election held in the first odd-numbered year after the adoption of this amendment. The additional county judges whose offices may be created by the legislature shall be chosen at the general election held in the first odd-numbered year after the creation of such office. All county judges, including successors to existing judges, shall be chosen by the electors of the counties for the term of six years from and including the first day of January following their election except that in counties within the city of New York the term shall be fourteen years. County courts in counties outside the city of New York shall have the powers and jurisdiction now prescribed by law, and also original jurisdiction in actions for the recovery of money only, where all the defendants reside in the county and in which the complaint demands judgment for a sum not exceeding three thousand dollars; but, if, in any action brought in said court, a counterclaim for more than three thousand dollars shall be interposed, the supreme court, on the application of either party made in the judicial district embracing the county, may remove the cause to the supreme court, whereupon such action shall proceed and be heard as if originally brought therein. The legislature may hereafter enlarge or restrict the jurisdiction of the county courts provided, however, that their jurisdiction shall not be so extended as to authorize an action therein for the recovery of money only in which (1) the sum demanded exceeds three thousand dollars, or (2) in which any person not a resident of the county is a defendant, unless such defendant have an office for the transaction of business within the county and the cause of action arose therein. From and after the first day of January in the second year following the adoption of this article, all the jurisdiction in civil actions or proceedings now vested in the county courts of the counties of Kings, Bronx, Queens and Richmond shall be withdrawn from such county courts and vested in the city court of the city of New York as constituted in and by section fifteen of this article, and said county courts shall thereafter be vested with jurisdiction only in criminal prosecutions or proceedings as now or hereafter provided by law. County judges shall perform such duties as may be prescribed by law, and their compensation, as established by law, shall be payable out of the county treasury. A county judge of any county outside the city of New York may hold the county court in any other county when requested by the county judge of such other county; and, in case of the death, absence, or incapacity of a county judge, in a county having no special county judge then able to serve, the governor may designate a county judge of another county to hold the county court during such vacancy, absence, or inability to act.

Section 12. The legislature, on application of the board of supervisors or other body exercising similar powers, may, in any county having a county court, provide for the election of a special county judge or special surrogate, not to exceed two in any county, to discharge the duties of county judge or of surrogate in such cases as may be provided by law. Any such special county judge or surrogate shall be chosen at the general election held in the first odd-numbered year after the creation of any such office, to take office on the first day of January following such election, but no appointment shall be made by the governor to such office meantime.

Section 13. The existing surrogates' courts are continued, and the surrogates now in office shall hold their offices until the expiration of their respective present terms. Their successors shall be chosen by the electors of their respective counties, and their terms of office shall be six years, except in the counties of New York, Kings, Bronx and Queens, where they shall hereafter be elected for terms of fourteen years. The legislature may provide for the election of an additional surrogate in any county having a population of more than one million. Surrogates and surrogates' courts shall have the jurisdiction, legal and equitable, and powers now established by law until otherwise provided by the legislature. The county judge shall be and serve as surrogate of his county except where a separate surrogate has been or shall be elected. In any county having a population exceeding forty thousand wherein there is now no separate surrogate, the legislature may provide for the election of a separate officer to be surrogate, whose term of office shall be six years. When the surrogate shall be elected as a separate officer, his compensation shall be established by law, and shall be payable out of the county treasury.

The legislature may at any time provide that the duties of county judge and surrogate in any county be discharged by the same person. For the relief of surrogates' courts, the legislature may confer upon the supreme court in any county having a population exceeding four hundred thousand, the powers and jurisdiction of surrogates.

Section 14. The court of general sessions in and for the city and county of New York is continued with its present jurisdiction, under the name of the court of general sessions of the county of New York. The said court shall consist of the judges now in office, all of whom shall continue to be judges of the court of general sessions of the county of New York for the remainder of the terms for which they were severally elected or appointed. The successors to the judges who were elected or appointed as judges of the court of general sessions in and for the city and county of New York shall be elected by the electors within the county of New York. The legislature may in its discretion authorize the election of one or more additional judges of said court. The successors to all said judges of the court of general sessions of the county of New York shall be elected for the term of fourteen years.

Section 15. The city court of the city of New York is continued, and, from and after the first day of January in the second year following the adoption of this article, it shall have the same jurisdiction and power throughout the city of New York, under the name of the city court of the city of New York, as it now possesses within the county of New York and the county of Bronx, and original jurisdiction concurrent with the supreme court in actions for the recovery of money only in which the complaint demands judgment for a sum not exceeding three thousand dollars, and interest, and in actions of replevin, foreclosure of mechanic's liens and liens on personal property where the property involved does not exceed in value the sum of three thousand dollars. Its jurisdiction to enter judgment upon a counterclaim shall be unlimited. It shall consist of the justices then in office, who shall continue to be justices of the court for the remainder of the terms for which they severally were elected or appointed, and the additional justices to be elected as provided in this section. The justices who were elected or appointed as justices of the city court of the city of New York shall be paid the compensation now fixed by law for such justices until the expiration of the terms for which they were respectively elected or appointed. Eight of their successors shall be elected by the electors of the county of New York and two by the electors of the county of Bronx, and hold office for ten years. There shall also be five additional justices, two of whom shall reside in and be chosen by the electors in the county of Kings, and one of whom shall reside in and be chosen by the electors in each of the counties of New York, Bronx and Queens, and all of whom shall be elected at the first general election following the adoption of this article, and they and their successors, who shall be chosen in like manner, shall hold office for ten years. Until the legislature shall otherwise provide, the county judge and surrogate of Richmond county shall perform in said county the duties of a justice of the city court of the city of New York and also the duties of a justice of the supreme court at chambers or out of court. The legislature may in its discretion authorize the election of one or more additional justices of the city court in any county within the city of New York. The justices hereafter elected shall receive from the city of New York such compensation as may be fixed by law.

The justices of the city court of the city of New York shall choose one of their number to be the presiding justice thereof, who shall act as such during his term of office, and who shall be charged with the general administration of the court and the assignment of the justices to hold the terms thereof, subject to such regulations as the presiding justices of the appellate divisions of the supreme court in the first and second departments shall from time to time prescribe. The justices of said city court shall have power to appoint and remove a chief clerk of the court, and one or more deputy clerks in each county, who shall keep their respective office or offices at a place or places to be designated by the court, and whose duties shall be regulated and supervised by the presiding justice of the court.

All civil actions or proceedings pending on said first day of January in the county courts of the counties of Kings, Bronx, Queens and Richmond, respectively, are hereby transferred to the city court of the city of New York for hearing and determination at terms held within the counties in which the same shall be pending, and, for the purpose only of such hearing and determination and the enforcement of the judgments rendered thereon, said city court shall have and exercise the equity jurisdiction previously vested in the respective county courts from which such cases are so transferred, but not otherwise. Until the legislature shall otherwise provide, the clerk of the city court of the city of New York and the chief clerk of the county court in each of the counties of Kings, Bronx, Queens and Richmond, shall severally act within his county as a deputy clerk of the city court of the city of New York, and the presiding justice of the court shall make such rules and regulations respecting the clerk's offices, the assignment of secretaries to the justices, court clerks, stenographers, interpreters and other attendants and the distribution of the business of the court in the said several counties as from time to time may be expedient, subject to such general regulations as the presiding justices of the appellate divisions of the first and second departments shall from time to time prescribe. Appeals from the city court of the city of New York shall be taken to the appellate term for the appropriate department or otherwise as may be prescribed by law.

Section 16. Vacancies occurring in the office of county judge, special county judge, surrogate, special surrogate, judge of the court of general sessions of the city of New York, or justice of the city court of the county of New York, shall be filled by appointment by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate if the senate be in session, or if not in session, the governor shall fill such vacancy by appointment which shall continue until and including the last day of December next after the election at which the vacancy shall be filled.

Section 17. The electors of the several towns shall, at their annual town meetings, or at such other time and in such manner as the legislature may direct, elect justices of the peace, whose term of office shall be four years. In case of an election to fill a vacancy occurring before the expiration of a full term, they shall hold for the remainder of the unexpired term. Their number, classification and duties shall be regulated by law. Justices of the peace, justices of the municipal court of the city of New York, and judges or justices of inferior courts not of record, and their clerks, may be removed for cause, after due notice and an opportunity of being heard, by such courts as are or may be prescribed by law. All other judicial officers in cities, whose election or appointment is not otherwise provided for in this article, including all judicial officers holding courts of special sessions, magistrates' courts, or other inferior local courts of criminal jurisdiction in the city of New York shall be chosen by the electors of such cities, or appointed by some local authorities thereof as may be prescribed by law. The boards of supervisors, or other officials exercising power now vested in such boards, may fix the compensation to be paid or allowed to justices of the peace for their services in criminal matters.

Section 18. Inferior local courts of civil and criminal jurisdiction may be established by the legislature, but no such inferior local court which has been created since the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five, or is hereafter created shall be a court of record. All inferior local courts now or hereafter established may be regulated or discontinued by the legislature. The legislature shall not hereafter confer upon any inferior or local court of its creation any equity jurisdiction or any greater jurisdiction in other respects than is conferred upon county courts by or under this article; but it may provide that the territorial jurisdiction in civil cases of any inferior or local court now existing or hereafter established in any city or of justices of the peace in cities shall extend throughout the county or counties in which such city may be located. Courts of special sessions and inferior local courts of similar character shall have such jurisdiction of offenses of the grade of misdemeanors as may be prescribed by law, and the legislature may authorize them to try such offenses without a jury.

The legislature may establish children's courts, and courts of domestic relations, as separate courts, or as parts of existing courts or courts hereafter to be created and may confer upon them such jurisdiction as may be necessary for the correction, protection, guardianship and disposition of delinquent, neglected or dependent minors, and for the punishment and correction of adults responsible for or contributing to such delinquency, neglect or dependency, and to compel the support of a wife, child, or poor relative by persons legally chargeable therewith who abandon or neglect to support any of them. In conferring such jurisdiction the legislature shall provide that whenever a child is committed to an institution or is placed in the custody of any person by parole, placing out, adoption, or guardianship, it shall be so committed or placed, when practicable, to an institution governed by persons, or in the custody of a person, of the same religious persuasion as the child. In the exercise of such jurisdiction such courts may hear and determine such causes with or without a jury, except those involving a felony.

Section 19. All judges, justices and surrogates shall receive for their services such compensation as is now or may hereafter be established by law, provided only that such compensation shall not be diminished during their respective terms of office. Except as in this article provided, all judicial officers shall be elected or appointed at such times and in such manner as the legislature may direct. No one shall be eligible to the office of judge of the court of appeals, justice of the supreme court, surrogate, or judge of any other court of record who is not an attorney and counselor of this state except in the county of Hamilton as to the office of county judge or surrogate. No judge or justice shall sit in any appellate court in review of a decision made by him or by any court of which he was at the time a sitting member. No person shall hold the office of judge or justice of any court or the office of surrogate longer than until and including the last day of December next after he shall be seventy years of age. The judges of the court of appeals and the justices of the supreme court shall not hold any other public office or trust, except that they shall be eligible to serve as members of a constitutional convention. All votes for any such judges or justices for any other than a judicial office or as a member of a constitutional convention, given by the legislature or the people, shall be void. No judicial officer except justices of the peace, shall receive to his own use any fees or perquisites of office. A judge of the court of appeals, a justice of the supreme court, a judge of the court of general sessions of the county of New York, a justice of the city court of the city of New York, and a county judge or surrogate elected in a county having a population exceeding one hundred and twenty thousand shall not practise as an attorney or counselor in any court of record in this state or act as referee in any action or proceeding. The legislature may impose a similar prohibition upon county judges and surrogates in other counties. No district attorney or assistant to or deputy of a district attorney shall appear or act as attorney or counsel for the defendant in any criminal case or proceeding in any court of the state, nor shall any county judge, special county judge, surrogate, or special surrogate appear or act as counsel for a defendant in any criminal case or proceeding pending in his own county or in any adjacent county.

Section 20. The testimony in equity cases shall be taken in like manner as in cases at law; and, except as herein otherwise provided, the legislature shall have the same power to alter and regulate the jurisdiction and proceedings in law and in equity that it has heretofore exercised.

Section 21. The clerks of the several counties shall be clerks of the supreme court, with such powers and duties as shall be prescribed by law. The clerk of the court of appeals shall keep his office at the seat of government. The clerk of the court of appeals and the clerks of the appellate divisions shall receive such compensation as may be established by law which shall be paid out of the state treasury.

Section 22. The legislature shall provide for the speedy publication of all statutes and all civil or criminal practice acts and rules, and for the collection, compilation and publication annually of the civil and criminal judicial statistics of the state. It shall further provide for the creation of a state law reporting bureau, which shall be under the direction and control of an official state reporter, who shall be appointed and be removable by the court of appeals, and who shall be charged with the duty, as may be provided by law and directed by said court, of publishing official reports of the opinions or decisions of all the courts of the state. But all laws and judicial opinions or decisions shall nevertheless be free for publication by any person.

Section 23. Nothing in this article contained shall abridge the authority of the legislature to create or abolish any board or court with jurisdiction to hear and audit or determine claims against the state, and any such tribunal existing when this article shall take effect shall be continued with the powers then vested in it until otherwise provided by law.

FORM OF SUBMISSION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

Shall the proposed amendment to Article VII of the Constitution, which adds a new section at the end thereof, to be numbered Section 15, empowering the legislature; in each of the ten years following the adoption of the amendment, to authorize the creation, without further submission to the people, of a debt or debts, not exceeding in the aggregate in any such year the sum of ten million dollars, to provide moneys for the acquisition by the state of real property, and for the construction of buildings, works and improvements for the state, or for any one or more of such objects, be approved?

FORM OF SUBMISSION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

Shall the proposed amendment to Article VII of the Constitution, which adds a new section at the end thereof, to be numbered Section 14, empowering the legislature to authorize the creation, without further submission to the people, of a debt or debts, not exceeding in the aggregate three hundred million dollars, to provide moneys for the elimination under state supervision, of railroad crossings at grade within the state, at the expense of the state, railroad companies, cities, towns and villages, be approved?

FORM OF SUBMISSION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE.

Shall the proposed amendment to Article V and Section 11 of Article VII of the Constitution, abolishing the constitutional offices of secretary of state, state treasurer, state engineer and surveyor, superintendent of public works, superintendent of state prisons, the canal board, commissioners of the land office and commissioners of the canal fund and providing for the establishment of twenty civil departments of the state government which shall exercise all the civil, administrative and executive functions of the state government, be approved?

FORM OF SUBMISSION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR.

Shall the proposed amendment to Article VI of the Constitution relative to the organization of the judicial system of the State and to the administration of justice in the courts thereof, be approved?

REPAID THIS MAN A DOZEN TIMES

"I have been repaid a dozen times over in improved health for every dollar I spent for Tanlac, and the medicine is still building me up every day," is the striking statement of Joseph Dellarne.

"Tanlac has driven pains from my body that had troubled me for ten years. Besides backache, which almost killed me at times, I had rheumatic pain and swelling in my hands and legs, my circulation was poor, feet always cold, nerves undone, my stomach didn't feel right, I had regular headaches and I was a discouraged man.

"I have never seen the equal of Tanlac in my life. It has more than doubled my appetite, my stomach feels great and my general health is so improved that I can not praise Tanlac enough for what it has done and is still doing for me."

What Tanlac has done for others, it can do for you.

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 millions of bottles sold.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.).

Something About Combs

There isn't very much information obtainable regarding combs, except that their origin is traced to great antiquity. Combs made of wood, bone and horn have been found in Swiss lake dwellings. Among the Greeks and Romans the combs were made of boxwood, in Egypt, of ivory. Modern combs are made of these, and also of tortoise shell. Probably the use of the comb for the hair came after they were employed for carding wool.—New York Telegraph.

Bull Big Factor In Making Herd

The bull is the most important single factor in the breeding efficiency in the herd, says the State College of Agriculture. The bull is often the means of spreading infections in the herd, and should be watched more carefully than any other one member of it.

The college enumerates several points to be remembered on buying or caring for the herd sire. "A bull should always be purchased from a herd as free from breeding troubles as possible. A bull may be backed by wonderful breeding and at the same time be worthless as a breeder. It is advisable to have a newly purchased sire examined by a veterinarian before putting him into regular service.

"The bull must not be too fat, but he must be kept in good flesh, and one way to do this is to give him plenty of regular exercise. A tread-power or tread-mill will help keep him in good trim.

"Do not turn the bull out with the herd, as this makes it impossible to keep an accurate check on him. It is vital to have an accurate record of his services, and to follow through on the results of each one. There is generally something wrong with a bull which is classed as not a sure breeder. A bull of this type may breed some of the cows successfully, but as a general rule he is a menace to the herd.

"The bull should at least have as good care and feeding as the cows of the herd."

LAKE GEORGE PARK.

Practically All of Tongue Mountain Peninsula Acquired by State.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 5.—Through the conservation commission the state has acquired, or contracted for, practically all of the Tongue Mountain peninsula or Lake George for park purposes.

A summary of the purchases of land for the Lake George park, just compiled by the conservation commission shows that 17 parcels of land with a total area of 9,054.80 acres have been paid for or are under contract, at an average value of $18 per acre, and seven proposals covering a total area of 1,602 acres are pending leaving only four lots aggregating 740 acres which are not yet under consideration. The title to five parcels embracing 847.36⅝ acres has been approved by the Attorney General and the land paid for. In the land purchasing program of the commission, the acquisition of land on Tongue Mountain has received special attention.

Purchases generally for the purpose of increasing the forest preserve have been restricted this year because only the unexpended balances of appropriations from former years were available. During the first eight months of the year, 26 new purchases were contracted for and the contracts approved for purchase and the papers submitted to the Attorney General for his examination of title. These purchases aggregate 16,478.45 acres at a total cost of $189,753.20 or an average of $11.76 an acre. They are lands which it was thought particularly desirable for the state to acquire.

Five cases involving the settlement of claims for 1,191.31 acres of land have been tried in the Court of Claims and the court has made awards of $12,362.43.

THAT THE BUSTLE FROCK IS MORE TALKED ABOUT THAN SEEN—BUT LIKED BY THE YOUNG.

It is a matter of comment that the drawn-up effect, peculiar to the bustle frock, and the smooth hip, characteristic of the princess, should both make their appearance simultaneously. One seems to contradict the other, but it has, for the last few seasons, been the practice of the haute couture to offer two silhouettes instead of one each season.

The bustle frock—so called, because no matter how modified, it does suggest the old-time bustle—has its greatest success among the younger set, who quite enjoy wearing it to parties. It has also met with favor among those who are planning bridal party regalia—changeable taffeta and lace being an oft-repeated combination.

Fulness as It Is Presented at the Back in a Clever Compose Frock.

Curiously enough, the stage—largely instrumental in establishing a fashion—has not sponsored the bustle to any extent. "Ladies of the chorus" are costumed in bouffant lines, molded bodies, and full skirts—often of contrasting material—which is the favorite scheme. In some instances, the fitted bodice is closely spangled or beaded, the skirt plain; for while beading is still in evidence, it is nearly always in group rather than allover effect.

Flat spangles, or paillettes, are the smartest and newest type, and are sometimes on a foundation of metal lace, or on velvet, there being also little square lozenge-shaped spangles in the same color as the frock, which have registered success.

All-Stars Beat Rosendale, 14-4

Instead of the Rosendale Baseball Club getting even with the All Stars Sunday the former took a severe lacing going on the bottom of a 14-4 score. There was but little opposition for the locals from the opening frame on. The All Stars landed twenty-two safe blows off North the Rosendale twirler. He also gave two free passes with four of the All Star players going down on strikeouts.

Cragan was off his usual good form Sunday giving three bases on balls. The Roosendale outfit connected for six safe blows, while he sent eight back to the bench by the strikeout routes.

Due to a bad and muddy playing field there were a considerable amount of errors, the All Stars leading with seven and Rosendale with six.

The errors the locals made were largely responsible for the run making of the Rosendale outfit.

Dedzeik led the All Star stickers with four safe blows of five times up.

The locals started off with five runs in the first session when North had ten men face him in the one inning.

The All Stars did the rest of their scoring when they sent five more across in the second. After this they let up a little and got two more in the third, one in the fifth and one in the sixth. The Rosendale Club got their first tally in the fourth. They then chalked one more in the fifth and two in the eighth.

HEILMANN REGAINED A. L. BATTING CROWN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 5.—By a sensational spurt in the final doubleheader with the Browns, Harry Heilmann slapped out six hits in nine trips and regained the American League batting crown lost last year because of trouble with his eyes. He passed Tris Speaker and finished on top with .393, or 47 points above his last year's work.

Rogers Hornsby finished far in the lead in the National League, making his sixth consecutive batting championship, thus breaking his own world's record. His mark of .403 placed him in the trio finishing above .400 for three seasons, Ty Cobb and Jesse Burkett being the others.

Colonials Drop Two Games to Haverstraw

First Game Goes to Haverstraw Club 7 to 4 and Second Game of Five Innings Ends With Caseys Ahead 5 to 2—Six Runs in Second Inning Won First Game—Raining in Final Session.

The record established by the Colonial Baseball Club for the 1925 season received a severe setback on Sunday at Haverstraw, when the Knights of Columbus club of that place trimmed the locals in a dual bill. The first game ended 7 to 4; the second contest of five innings, 5 to 2.

Although not anticipated, the double defeat was not entirely a surprise, as the Caseys have a strong line-up and the playing field attributes greatly in getting breaks, that is right field hitters have a big advantage over left or center field hitters. A blow into right field goes out of the field into another league, the housewife's backyard.

The Opening Tilt.

Although the Schirickmen outhit the home club they were found lacking when it came to crossing the plate. Bob Grody allowed the local batsmen eleven safe blows during the initial contest, while McDermott and Kinney yielded a total of nine safeties.

The six runs in the second frame spelled defeat for the Colonials. In the remaining innings the K. of C. outfit scored but one run and the locals but four, which was enough to lose the game.

McDermott started on the mound for the locals and received a severe treatment in the second inning, allowing five runs. Before this hectic session was concluded Paul Kinney arrived and for the remaining innings allowed but two runs.

McCue led the batters in the first game, collecting three hits.

Second Game.

The second contest was started despite the rain and was continued for five innings. In this short session the Colonials were but able to score two runs while the K. of C. squad chalked up five.

Art Smith was on the mound for the locals and was touched for six safe blows. Courtney, a former big league player, did the pitching for the home club allowing five safeties.

The locals started off with a run in the initial frame, but were trailing at the end of the first, the Caseys getting two runs at their time at bat. In the third inning the Schirickmen scored another run. In the fourth and fifth frames three runs came in for the Haverstraw team.

EUROPEAN STARS TO TRAIL NURMI

Foreign Athletes Get Inspiration From Finn's Success on This Side.

Charles W. Paddock, California's renowned sprinter and record holder, who returned recently from his round-the-world tour, says that track and field athletics are destined soon to take front rank in international sport and that the tremendous development he noted in foreign fields presaged stiff competition for America if it expects to maintain its supremacy on the track.

There already are three nations declares Paddock, which have made track athletics their major national sport. These are Japan, Germany and Finland. In other countries the development is growing apace, he claims, and in many lands there are athletes who either must be ranked today as the greatest in their fields, or who will be supreme with a few more years of intensive training.

Paddock, who left last March for the Orient, accompanied by Loren Murchison, the Newark sprinter, visited 16 countries during his tour and competed in more than 100 races, a feat never before done by an American athlete.

Germans, he said, were going wild over Houben and more than 55,000 persons attended the meet in Berlin in which Houben faced Paddock and Murchison.

Edwin Wide and Petterson, a great hurdler, are Sweden's outstanding athletes, he said. Tani, another great sprinter, is the center of attention in Japan; Van der Berg is arousing great interest in Holland, while Guillemot, who defeated Nurmi in the 1920 Olympics, has all France stirred up.

Nurmi, he said, is the man of the hour in European athletics, and his tremendous success in this country probably will lead to a general invasion of foreign stars. "They all want to come over," says Paddock, "to duplicate Nurmi's achievements."

Among the countries in which Paddock competed were Japan, China, the Philippines, India, Ceylon, Egypt, Italy, France, Germany, Sweden, Denmark, England, Norway, Holland and Finland.

Speed Is the Main Cog in Making Double Plays

One step is often the slight difference between safe and out on a majority of double plays.

The failure to complete a two-ply killing can usually be traced to some slip in the handling of the ball.

Famous double-play combinations always gamble; they are "take-a-chance" players. The ball must be thrown with speed and the players involved must anticipate the throw.

Mere tossing or lobbing the ball loses many a play that could have been turned with speedy handling.

In the handling of the ball one finds the difference between success and failure in the making of double plays. Speed is the keynote.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 5.—Action may be taken, it was reported today by the state athletic commission to prevent Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, boxing four rounds here October 10 with Jim Flynn, Pueblo fireman, who is the only man ever credited with knocking out Dempsey. The commission was said to have frowned on the bout because of Flynn's age and lack of training.

Culloton Pitched Five Innings.

Bud Culloton pitched the first five innings for the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday in the second game of the dual bill with the Cincinnati club. Culloton allowed seven hits and two runs, which cost him the game, the Pirates scoring but one run in the entire struggle. Oldham pitched the remaining innings for Pittsburgh.

Tagging Major League Bases

The Phils rose from last place by virtue of being rained out and the Cubs sank into the opening created in the programs which wound up the major league seasons. Hornsby's Cardinals beat the Cubs 7 to 5.

Harry Heilmann smashed his way to the American League hitting honors of the season with six hits in nine times. Meantime, the Tigers beat the Browns twice, 10 to 4 and 11 to 6.

The Pirates hit Goodwin hard and beat the Reds 4 to 2 in the opener but Peter Donahue all but shut them out in the second game, 4 to 1.

Mostil stole his forty-second base of the season as the White Sox closed the season with a 10 to 8 victory over the Indians.

Stuyvesant Too Much for K. H. S.

Kingston High Grid Team Outclassed by Stuyvesant High Eleven in Saturday's Game—Locals Are Unable to Score While Visitors Make Three Touchdowns.

Stuyvesant High, outweighing the Maroon and White band in every position with possible only one or two exceptions easily outplayed the locals, breaking past the Kingston High School eleven for three touchdowns Saturday afternoon on the Athletic Field winning the tilt by a 21 to 0 score.

The conquering eleven hailing from the Borough of Manhattan and for the past four years champions of Greater New York far from possessed the dash of the High School's opponents of the week before. But nevertheless two timely aerial attacks and a series of line bucking against a much less powerful front wall made the locals the victims of the New Yorkers in their opening match.

The K. H. S. backfield was held almost ineffective by the Stuyvesant line, averaging 175 pounds from end to end.

The winners didn't draw the first blood until the second quarter when they pushed across for a touchdown. The game was replete with penalties for the Stuyvesant crew the first quarter and part of the second. The New Yorkers were forced back almost half the field on penalties the first session.

The visitors had an able backfield. Tommy Kraus and Myer, a pair of colored backs being the big guns of the fray. Captain Hecht also carried the pigskin for considerable yardage. Myers was a big lad who the locals found hard to bring to earth when he once made up his mind to take the ball through.

Tommy Kraus the second dusky player in the backfield was probably the smallest man on the team, but he was by no means hampered by his slight makeup. Kraus, very wiry, was like a weasel for finding holes in the High School's line. Kraus ran the ball for most of the team's yardage. Captain Hecht another of the wiry type, playing quarter was also unusually effective in shaking the K. H. S. tacklers. In the first quarter Hecht tore up the field for almost thirty yards in a series of downs.

Hauch made the first touchdown of the game in the second quarter. Rider kicked off to Hecht to start the battle. Stuyvesant ran the ball up for a first down but then lost the pigskin to the locals on downs. Kingston made the first down and then after a series of plunges Rider kicked and the New York backs missed the ball, it bringing the locals within only a few yards of the goal but Captain Hecht in a series of bucking warfare took the ball out of danger.

The Stuyvesant outfit was also penalized the second quarter but they finally managed to shoot the ball over in spite of the great losses from penalties. After being penalized several times the second quarter Stuyvesant started the passing attack. Snitzer aimed several passes to the ends but not until after three downs did he shoot one twenty-five yards to Hauck, who ran it up the remaining yards.

The third period Hecht kicked off to the locals and Rider tried a few passes. After two tries with the New York back breaking up the play Rider made an effort to kick but Seiler broke past the Kingston line and blocked the boot. After this break the Manhattan crew again triumphed in the passing game. Snitzer getting a spiral off for twenty yards to Hauck for the second tally. Snitzer added another point, kicking between the uprights, making the score 13-0.

In the last part of the match Coach Howard shoved Mike Gonzales, the famous track star, and several others of his picked lot into the game. The New York mentor also pulled Kraus and Hecht out early in the game and saved them for the final quarter. Nearly every man of Stuyvesant's squad was brought into service.

The Manhattan team's well developed passing game and bulky line gave the local gridders little chance to show much playing. Watts at tackle and Captain Davis at guard were the most effective in the local line while Leverett and Rider showed up well in the backfield. This local pair of backs showed their best work the first quarter in driving the ball for Kingston's few first downs.

Leverett was especially alert the latter part of the third quarter, breaking up several of Snitzer's long passes. When Snitzer finally landed a spiral in Sieler's arms Leverett dropped the speedy end in his tracks caused the winners to resort to punting.

In the final quarter Feldman blocking Rider's kick ended the break in a safety, making two more points. In the last few minutes of play Snitzer captured a pass from Rider, intended for Leverett and Kraus. Hecht and Myers made short work of tearing off the necessary few yards for the third touchdown. Tommy Kraus, the light back, took the pigskin across for the last tally.

Senators Have The Will to Win

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 5.—The will to live keeps the breath of life pulsating in a body that otherwise would be a corpse. The will to win makes a ball club achieve the impossible.

There is nothing impossible about the task of either of the contending clubs in the world series, starting on Wednesday. Mathematically, there is no choice between the Washington Senators and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

But because the Senators have the will to win developed to an almost exaggerated degree, the writer is pleased to favor them over the Pirates.

Everything else is equal, or at least one advantage of one is contradicted by another. The Pirates have hitting plus great speed and the enthusiasm of youth. The Senators have hitting plus more than ordinary speed and the experience of age.

The writer likes the Senatorial infield better than that of the Pirates because the latter lack the other's smoothness of execution and serenity under fire. Washington's infield reserve strength also is superior.

However, Pirate pitching, as a day to day proposition, figures to be superior to anything the Senators can muster because Pittsburgh rather fancies left handers and Zachary and Ruether are very left handed.

Then there is the business of Walter Johnson. If he isn't any better than he was against the Giants last year, the Senators might just as well start trampling down women and children on their way to the nearest exit. He figures to be considerably better, however.

The morale of both clubs is high, the Pirates having convinced themselves that they are really as good as the form sheets say. Still, they lack something of the Senators' stark inspiration to go on and win when winning seems very much like a losing proposition. No club in ten years of baseball has had this quality more heavily accentuated than the Washington Senators of 1924-25.

This brings the issue down to the breaks, perhaps the most telling factor in any short series. No one can forecast these. They just happen, like college bathands, housemaid's knee and piccolo players.

First Game Is Very Important

If Pittsburgh Beats Johnson In Opening Game, Senators Are Doomed—If Washington Wins Pittsburgh's Cause Not So Desperate.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 5.—Actuated by that spirit of strict impartiality peculiar to home towns about to indulge in one end of a world series, the local intelligentsia today came out of its flat feet with the prediction that victory for the Pirates in the opening game meant victory for the Pirates in the series. The argument has its points and so has a barbed wire fence.

However, there can be no evasion of the fact that if Pittsburgh can toss Walter Johnson behind the line of scrimmage at the outset, then Washington's immediate future will be that of the gent with a collapsible floor at his feet and a rope for a necktie. Johnson is the keyman of the series and on Wednesday he will unlock the door to the secret within.

That fact furnishes the answer to a pre-series situation that has made the Pirates rather unnatural favorites at odds of 6 to 5. The gamblers wanted to get their money down on the club that seems to be the majority's favorite before the odds went beyond all reason. If the Pirates beat Johnson in the opener, there will be plenty of Pittsburgh money going about with hat in hand pleading for home. Under such conditions, it would suprise no one if the odds soared to 8 to 5, since Johnson probably would have to turn in two victories for the Senators to win the series and he might not get a chance to pitch two more games before it was all over.

However, if Johnson wins the opener, the Senators immediately would go to even money or better and the gamblers would proceed to lay off their bets at the prevailing odds, insuring them against loss.

In any case, the club that takes the first one on the chin usually has been the loser of a world series; therefore, Washington can reverse the Pittsburgh prediction with ample justification, to wit: If Johnson beats the Pirates in the opener, the Senators will be as good as in.

Baseball history supports this contention. In the twenty one years the modern world series has been played since 1903, the club that won the opening game, won the series on no less than 15 occasions. The exceptions were furnished by Pittsburgh in 1903, the Giants in 1911, the Phillies in 1915, the Yankees in 1921, the Giants in 1923 and the same outfit against the Senators last year.

However, the writer will venture this much: If the Pirates drop the first game, their cause will not be as desperate as would be that of the Senators if they lose behind Johnson.

SENATORS LEFT TODAY FOR SMOKY CITY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The Senators advanced on Pittsburgh today.

Manager Bucky Harris led a squad of thirty players out of the capital this morning. They will arrive in the smoky city this evening and tomorrow morning will work out on Forbes Field.

Few of the Senators have ever seen the Pirate playing field and Harris wants to get them accustomed to it before the opening act of the series Wednesday.

Store Raided At Jenkinstown

State Troopers and Deputy Sheriffs Arrest Four Occupants, Including Proprietor, and Secure Names of Twenty Other People Who Were in the Store.

The Cashdollar grocery store at Jenkinstown was raided by State Troopers about 1 o'clock Sunday morning and as a result four prisoners were brought to the county jail and held for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Deyo.

Otto Cashdollar, proprietor, was placed under arrest on a charge of maintaining a public nuisance. His brother, Howard Cashdollar, was arrested on a similar charge and Emery Lefever of New Paltz was charged with disorderly conduct. Miss Eugenia Lansperry, 17 years old, of Jenkinstown, was also arrested on a disorderly charge. The names of twenty persons in the place were secured by the Troopers who made the raid.

The Cashdollar place has been a source of constant annoyance to the reputable residents of the place for some time and numerous complaints have been made that intoxication in that part of the town was so common that it was dangerous to walk along the road after dark. The Cashdollar place was the hang-out of numerous whites as well as negroes and at the time of the raid there were several colored persons in the place. State Troopers have watched the place for some time and have endeavored to get evidence which would warrant a raid and the arrest of the proprietors.

Saturday night Sergeant Lockheart, Sergeant Cunningham and Troopers Hilliers, Coons and Brastead and Deputy Sheriffs Lyons and Goerth went to Jenkinstown. Shortly after their arrival a fight was started in the place and the raid followed. About 40 gallons of what is alleged to be wine, gin and liquor were seized by the Troopers.

Complaints had been made of numerous girls making the place a lounging quarters and of the disorderly conduct of the visitors there.

Dedrick's Skull Is Fractured

The condition of William F. Dedrick, druggist of 308 Wall street, continues to be serious with very slight hopes for his recovery. A diagnosis and an X-ray made Saturday shows that Mr. Dedrick's skull is fractured in a number of places.

On Wednesday afternoon of last week he went into the basement of his store with a searchlight evidently in search of something. Indications are that he fell from a box and struck his head on the floor. The clerks in the store heard a noise under the store but they thought Mr. Dedrick had dropped something. He came upstairs shortly afterwards and went into his office. The telephone ringing in the office and Mr. Dedrick not answering it, the office was visited and he was found in a dazed condition. He was taken to his home over the drug store and doctors were summoned. Indications were that Mr. Dedrick's trouble was a clot of blood on the brain but Saturday morning a discoloration at the back of the head appeared and a small lump, an indication of a skull fracture which an X-ray later verified.

Farm Bureaus Plan Campaigns

Members of the Ulster County Farm Bureau board of directors were in attendance today at a regional directors meeting at Middletown along with directors from Orange, Sullivan and Delaware counties. The meeting was called by State Leader of Farm Bureau Jay Coryell and State Federation Secretary E. V. Underwood for the purpose of discussing and adopting plans for the membership campaigns in each county. Similiar meetings will be held in New York, Hudson, Schenectady and Glens Falls during the week.

It is the plan of the state leaders to have every county in the state holding their annual campaigns during the fall months, commencing about October 15th. This is the plan already followed in Ulster during the past four years with excellent success. In recommending this procedure to other counties, state leaders frequently pointed to the success here as outstanding among other counties in the state.

On Tuesday, following the Middletown session, the regular monthly meeting of the local board will be held in Kingston. Definite organization plans for the membership campaign here will be made at this meeting.

LUCAS OF GARDINER HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Charles Lucas of the town of Gardiner was arrested Saturday by Sergeant Lockheart and Trooper Hilliers charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Lucas while driving a car down the road failed to turn out when he approached Rural Mail Carrier William B. Butler who carries the mail out of Gardiner. The result was a bad collision and Lucas was taken before Justice of the Peace Joseph Deyo on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated. He was held in $500 bail to await the action of the grand jury.

Unveil World War Trophy at Malden

so the best he could do was to tell of some of the humorous incidents of hospital life in France as he saw it. In this he quite captivated the audience.

Two delightful harp solos, one a French Military March inspired by Mr. Pell's sketches, the other a Waltz Song of Mr. Clark's own composition, were played by Melville Clark, after which the entire gathering adjourned to the spot where the war trophy, veiled with a large American flag, just showing the dates, 1914-1925, on the concrete base had found a final resting place.

Trophy Deters War Thoughts.

The host of the day introduced Dr. George F. Chandler of Kingston, who made the unveiling address. Dr. Chandler said to him the word "address" was a two-edged sword, cutting him who listened and certainly him who had to deliver the same, so he would omit the address and make just a few remarks. Dr. Chandler called attention to the continual strife that is going on in the world in the animal, vegetable and mineral realms, with the resultant survival of the fittest. Then he spoke of the fact that today in the medical world, physicians and nurses are putting up a big fight against disease in a preventive way as the most effective manner of waging battle against this enemy of humankind. In view of this splendid and reasonable effort, Dr. Chandler said he had little patience with the people who thought that peace preparedness for defense would eventually be less effective than the physical preventive measures just mentioned and would even suggest war. He was sure that the daily sight of the machine gun about to be unveiled would be a deterrent rather than any possible incentive to a warlike spirit and congratulated the community on the acquisition of such a trophy through the efforts of Poultney Bigelow.

Harold Cox, a veteran of the late war, decorated for distinguished service, in uniform, was given a hearty greeting as he then unveiled the gun, removing the big flag, while those present, sang one verse of America, accompanied by Mr. Clark on his harp. The auspicious occasion closed with the pronouncing of the benediction by the Rev. Dr. Renison of Saugerties.

Guests Present.

Among the distinguished guests present were Lady Eaton and Mrs. W. M. Dobie of Toronto, Miss Fanny R. Evans, Colonel and Mrs. H. C. Andrews and Miss Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Hungerford, Judge and Mrs. Alton B. Parker, Mrs. Charles Mercer Hall and Miss Hall, Mrs. Caswell and Mrs. Judson and party of Troy, Mr. and Mrs. Melville Clark of Syracuse, S. H. P. Pell of Ticonderoga, Major Warner, successor of Dr. Chandler as the head of the State Troopers; Miss Binney, Colonel Eritzoff, Mr. Bigelow's niece, Miss Anne Tracey and Mrs. Wyatt, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Philip and Miss Betts of Catskill, Mrs. Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Schieffelin and Mrs. Cooper of Monroe, Dr. and Mrs. Upton, Mr. Adams, secretary of the Dutchess County Branch of the State Historical Society, and Miss Adams of Red Hook; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hopkins and party of Catskill; Mrs. Gilbert Colgate of Onteora, daughter, Mrs. Edwin St. John Greble, Mrs. J. Preventing Fire In the Kitchen

Housewives can cooperate in the observance of Fire Prevention Week by eliminating fire hazards from their kitchen. On the average three fires are occurring in American homes every minute. Carelessness in handling matches, gasoline, kerosene, electrical appliance, gas and rubbish in kitchens has been responsible for the loss of many lives and millions of dollars worth of properety. The Insurance Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States offers the following suggestions for preventing fires within the kitchen.

"Matches should be kept in tightly covered non-combustible containers. It is especially hazardous to leave them within the reach of little children. Gasoline and benzine frequently cause fires, when used to hasten a slow burning fire or when used inside of the house for cleaning purposes if a flame is near. The current should always be disconnected from electric pressing irons when leaving them, even if for only a few seconds. Scores of fires have started from overheated irons while housewives have been answering telephones or doorbells.

"When planning a new home it is advisable to give consideration to the details of the kitchen from a fire prevention and fire protection standpoint. The floors under ranges should be protected by a covering of non-combustible material and the walls behind should be similarly safeguarded. Stove pipes should be kept in good repair and separated at least one foot from any woodwork. Gas stoves should preferably be placed on metal supports. Pipe connections should be used throughout."

Vacant Boarding House Burned

Judge Joseph M. Fowler Discovers Fire Near Pine Hill and Traces of Recent Occupancy of Kitchen.

While County Judge Joseph M. Fowler was motoring Sunday through the Catskills his attention was attracted to smoke issuing from the Hornbeck boarding house between Pine Hill and Fleischmanns on the Bushkill road. He immediately made an investigation and found the place on fire. An alarm was given and several persons gathered and attempted to extinguish the flames but without success. A quantity of the furnishings were carried from the building which was completely destroyed. The house has about 25 rooms and was but recently closed for the season. Someone had been in the building a short time before the arrival of Judge Fowler, who found a fire still burning in the kitchen range when he arrived. The property is located in Delaware county.

HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the New York State Historical Association was held at Syracuse on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week. About 165 members were in attendance. Ulster county was represented by Theodore Brink of Lake Katrine. Headquarters were at the new Hotel Syracuse, which is said to have cost seven million dollars. Invitations from Watertown and Niagara Falls for next year's meeting were received. The place of meeting will be determined at the mid-year meeting of the trustees. It is understood that White Plains also is under consideration.

Here is the way to glistening teeth that dentists now advise

It removes that dingy film from your teeth. It clears cloudy teeth and Firms the Gums. Start today — why wait?

MODERN science now tells us how to brighten dingy teeth and give toneless gums a healthy coral tint. A new way widely urged by leading dentists of the world. Different in formula, action and effect, it does what no other method has yet attained—removes and combats, without harsh grit, the dangerous film that covers teeth and which old type dentifrices do not fight successfully.

Run your tongue across your teeth. You will feel that film. Under it are the prettier, whiter teeth you envy in others. If you combat that film your teeth will quickly glisten delightfully. Ask your druggist for a tube of Pepsodent. Results will amaze you.

The enemy of teeth and gums. Film is the great enemy of teeth and gums; a chief cause, according to world's dental authorities, of pyorrhea and most teeth and gum troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs by the millions breed in it. It holds food in contact with teeth, inviting the acid that causes decay.

You can't have prettier, whiter teeth; you can't have healthier teeth unless you combat that film.

Mail the coupon now. Don't expect the same results from old type dentifrices. Begin beautifying your teeth today.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE A COLLEGE WOMEN'S CLUB

Owing to the fact that there has been a distinct demand in Kingston for an organization of the college women, a meeting has been called for all women interested, at the Y. W. C. A. rooms Thursday afternoon, 3:45 o'clock. The first meeting will be entirely preliminary, the purpose being to discuss the general aims and purposes of such an organization. If desirable, steps will be taken towards perfecting an organization. Many communities have active organizations of college alumnae which are doing very effective work. As there is no known complete list of college women it is hoped that all interested will call this notice to the attention of any who might be interested and eligible.

Kingston, on account of its proximity to a number of prominent women's colleges and also on account of the large interest in higher education has doubtless an unusually high percentage of college women.

SHELDON TALKS TO MORAN SCHOOL

On Friday afternoon Arthur Frederick Sheldon delivered a most forceful lecture to the students of the Moran Business School, Burgevin building, corner Fair and Main strets. The speaker outlined each phase of his talk on the blackboard, using diagrams and other devices that held the attention of the students and maintained enthusiasm at a high pitch throughout the lecture.

The students of the Moran School indicated in vigorous fashion their appreciation of this most interesting and inspiring address, and by a rising vote thanked Mr. Sheldon for his effort to help them.

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of our dear daddy, Ward Christiana, who entered into rest October 4, 1923.

When the evening shades are falling
And we're sitting all alone,
In our hearts there comes a longing,
If only our dear daddy could come home.

The blow was great, the shock severe
We did not think your death so near.
We saw you suffer, we heard your sighs
With aching hearts and weeping eyes

We saw you sinking hour by hour,
We could not stop death's awful power
But now you calmly sleep and rest,
All pains, all aches, all suffering past.

Though from you we had to part,
Your memory still dwells within our hearts
Never to be forgotten.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 5.—Price movements in the stock market today were extremely erratic and the market was in a state of confusion. With heavy calling of loans on a five per cent call loan rate and considerable profit taking there were heavy offerings, caused a general decline in the forenoon.

Stocks of the mercantile companies, a few of the coppers, motors and specialties, however, spurted vigorously, Woolworth advanving ten points to 189, Nash Motors 32 points to 488, American Smelting nearly four points to 116 and Dodge Brothers common "A" 2½ to a new high at 39½.

Strength in the mercantile and copper stocks stimulated buying of the industrials and utility stocks around the noon period, but concentration of selling pressure on Ward Baking B, which broke 8 points to 80½ and other industrial stocks made short work of this rally.

Considerable "switching" to the the coppers was reported in the Wall Street districts.

Banks called an aggregate of $30,000,000 from the speculative loan account in order to counteract the effect of a $21,500,000 deficit in reserves as reported in Saturday's statement and the call loan rate ruled at five per cent.

Profit taking was well absorbed, in some cases with the aid of the bullish pools, and the market appeared to be ready to move forward again the fourth hour. A few of the speculative rails, including Katy, New Haven, Ontario and Western, joined the upward movement.

Attempt to Kill Priest Fails

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 5.—An attempt by a woman to kill Monsignor Thomas O'Keefe while he was celebrating Mass at the altar of St. Benedict the Moor today was thwarted by worshippers who overpowered her after she had fired three shots. The priest was uninjured although one bullet passed through his cape, the other two imbedding themselves in the altar.

Father O'Keefe remained calm throughout the episode and after quieting the panic in the congregation which followed the shooting finished his Mass.

Police arrested the woman who said she was Mrs. Helen Gruver, 40, of 340 West Fifty-third street. She said she planned for several days to murder the priest "because he poisoned two women and that's enough."

Detectives planned to ask a magistrate to have her committed for observation as to her sanity.

Women of Mooseheart Legion of Kingston Chapter, 555, met in their hall on Henry street Saturday night. Deputy Grand Regent Laura Shimer and her degree team from Warwick, N. Y., did all the floor work. A large class was initiated. Poughkeepsie Chapter, Newburgh Chapter, Middletown Chapter attended. After the meeting a social time was greatly enjoyed and refreshments were served. All went to their homes, delighted with the work that Warwick Chapter did.

Franklin Lodge, No. 37, K. of P., on Saturday paid a visit to Truth Lodge, No. 358, of Schenectady, accompanied by delegation from Olive Branch Lodge, No. 133, North American Lodge, No. 115, Zena Lodge, No. 213, Hope Lodge, No. 65, and Wallkill Lodge, No. 162. About one hundred strong they were met by Truth Lodge, and escorted to the Century, where a bountiful banquet was served and enjoyed by all, returning to the lodge rooms at 8 o'clock. About 500 members were present when the lodge was brought to order by C. C. W. H. Van Aken, a former resident of Kingston, who presented the gavel to P. C. George Schopmeir, chairman of the committee to receive the U. S. flag. The flag was presented by the C. C. Lean L. Wands and P. C. J. W. Sussex who told of the origin of the flag, and the fraternal motive that started Switzerland Lodge, No. 7, of Lehighton, Pa., to send the flag on its continued visit to the various lodges in the supreme domain. The flag was received with very appropriate remarks from P. C. George Schopmeir. G. C. Robert J. Copper very sincerely spoke of the love and high esteem in which the order of Knights of Pythias respected the flag of their country, stating that by an act of Congress the order of Knights of Pythias had received its charter. G. V. C. Harry Nathan also spoke at length on the principles of the order and the spirit of patriotism of the members. During the ceremonies America, the Star Spangled Banner, Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean, were sung, accompanied by the organist and choir of Truth Lodge. At close of special convention refreshments were served and an hour of friendship was enjoyed, many brothers renewing old, and making many new acquaintances. The brothers dispersed for their homes at a late hour greatly enthused by the evening's patriotic demonstration.

Abandon Work On Sunken S-51

Work Above Sunken Submarine Great Menace to Life—Memorial Services For Men Who Were Lost.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New London, Conn., Oct. 5.—With a high wind stirring up a heavy sea off Block Island today, naval officials made no effort to continue work toward salvaging the stricken S-51 probable grave of many officers and men. Lighters that had been engaged in efforts toward finding the bodies of the lost men did not leave their moorings here or at Block Island to which ports they ran Saturday when changing weather conditions made work above the sunken submarine a menace to life.

That the navy department will handle the task of salvaging the S-51 to a private contracting firm is considered likely here. Reports have been current here that the Meredith-Chapman-Scott Company, largest marine wrecking concern on the North Atlantic coast, has received such a contract. Officials at the submarine base here declared that while they had no information concerning such contract, they would not be surprised if a private company was asked to salvage the ship. The task is expected to be one of the greatest ever undertaken in New England waters.

Memorial services for the men who were lost on the S-51 were held at the submarine base on Sunday under Chaplain A. R. Parker, U. S. N. Relatives and close friends of the lost men attended the services in large numbers. City officials of New London and town officials of Groton also were there. The Base Theater was given over in its entirety to the services and the Base choir and Base orchestra participated. Eulogies of the men who went down with the submarine were delivered by Chaplain Parker and by officers who had served with the dead officers and had commanded the seamen who were lost.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Mrs. Patrick Urell died this morning at her home in Stony Hollow. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Bertha, wife of Jacob Baker of Mettacahonts, died on Wednesday, September 30, in her fifty-second year. The funeral took place on Sunday with interment at Whitfield.

Richard Stokes, who for many years conducted a hotel at Kerhonkson and was prominent in Democratic politics, having been at one time a candidate for county superintendent of the poor, died on Saturday in Kerhonkson, where he had resided for many years, aged 84 years. The funeral will be held from Decker's Hotel, Kerhonkson, where he resided, on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in High Falls. He is survived by one son, Charles Stokes of Kerhonkson, and a daughter, Mrs. Grace TenHagen of Southington, Conn.

The funeral of Mrs. Anna H. Schupp was held from her late home, No. 21 Hanratty street, this morning at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 at St. Peter's Church where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Joseph Ostermann. The services were largely attended by her relatives and friends and the floral tributes were many and beautiful, testifying to the high esteem in which she was held by all who knew her. The bearers were members of the family and interment was in the family plot in St. Peter's cemetery where the committal services were conducted by the Rev. Father Ostermann.

Mrs. Margaret F. Hurley, wife of William Hurley, died at her home, 11 DeWitt street, on Saturday evening following an illness of some time. Mrs. Hurley was born in this city, a daughter of Patrick J. Carey and Mary Barry Carey. She had lived in Brooklyn for a number of years, Mr. Hurley being engaged in business in that city. About a year ago they erected a new home on DeWitt street, where they have been living since. One daughter, Mary M., survives, besides her husband and a sister, Mrs. Martin Horan of Brooklyn. Funeral from the late residence on Tuesday morning at 9:30 and at 10 o'clock at the Church of the Holy Name at Wilbur, with a solemn requiem Mass for the repose of her soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Dr. Benson L. Miller, a well known dentist who for a number of years conducted a business at 324 Wall street, which because of ill health he closed some time ago, died Saturday at his home, 54 Linderman avenue. Heart trouble with which he had been afflicted was the cause of death. Dr. Miller came to Kingston seventeen years ago from Muncy, Pa., established a dentistry and took up his residence here. During that time he has made many friends. Dr. Miller was a graduate of Cornell Academy and the College of Dentistry of the University of Maryland. Besides his wife he is survived by three sons, Benson V., Ralph E. and M. Clifford; also one brother, Lewis Miller of Corning, N. Y. For many years he was a member of the First Reformed Dutch Church. Fraternally Dr. Miller was a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M.; Charles DeWitt Council, No. 91, Jr. O. U. A. M., and of Arctar Lodge, No. 172, I. O. O. F. Funeral at family residence, 54 Linderman avenue, Tuesday, at 2 p. m., with interment in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Garage Foreman Killed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 5.—When Frank Mailloux, 5?, garage foreman, lost control of an automobile in the Copley Garage, Back Bay, the car shot into an elevator well, threw the foreman to the bottom of the pit, turning turtle, crashed down upon him. Mailloux was dead when firemen dug him from the wreckage. Mailloux and the car dropped 18 feet.

About the Folks

Mrs. Peter A. Kuhlmann of West Pierpont street is spending several days in New York city.

William Miller, 42 Downs street, owner of the Miller Taxi Service, has engaged William Ziegler, an expert driver and machenician, as a chauffeur.

Mr. and Mrs. John Baker and daughter, Helen, and Mrs. Hazel Costello of Smith avenue have returned from a week end motor trip to Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Schwalbach of Hasbrouck avenue, returned Saturday on the S. S. Nieuw Amsterdam of the Holland-American Line from a three months' trip to Europe.

Mrs. Thomas E. Carroll of 196 Main street, who underwent an operation at the Benedictine Hospital, is doing nicely under the care of Doctors W. J. and J. G. O'Leary and nurse, Miss Sweeney.

Miss Helen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith of West Pierpont street, underwent an operation for appendicitis by Dr. Frederick Snyder at the Kingston City Hospital on Friday last. Miss Smith's many friends will be glad to know that she is making an excellent recovery.

CAJUN CLINGS TO HIS OLD CUSTOMS

Modern Ways Make Little Appeal to Him.

The Cajun of southwestern Louisiana has his own particular customs, some of them handed down by his Nova Scotian ancestors, others of more modern invention, says Nevil Henshaw in Adventure Magazine.

Often, in naming his numerous children, he will stick to a single letter. Thus, in a family that has chosen the letter O, the boys may be: Odeon, Oliver, Octave, Ovide, Optah, Otis, Otto; the girls: Octavie, Odelia, Ophelia, Odile, Olive, Olita, Olympe, Omeah. This system, though pleasantly alliterative, must result sometimes in confusion.

As inevitable as his cup of black coffee is the Cajun's use of brick dust. This, pounded small, is scattered inside, and especially upon that shelf-like portion of his home which, however small, he calls a gallery. In its way it is ornamental, the dull red of the dust standing out against the dark weathered gray of the unpainted planking behind.

In the better class families the French proprieties are observed. Religious duties are seldom neglected. Saturday night balls, which last through until daybreak, are ended by the dancers attending mass in a body. Children are instructed fully in the principles of their faith with, sometimes, curious results.

I know of one boy who, having failed continually in his catechism class, was the despair of the kindly priest who taught him. In the end the good father resolved on a desperate measure.

"See, Toto," said he. "You have not passed, you will never pass. Yet you are a good boy and work hard. So I will give you your chance. One question now, an easy one, and you go through. On what day was the birth of our Lord?"

As he thought Toto's face was expressionless. He answered with marked uncertainty, "Good Friday."

The priest was patient. It was necessary to be so.

"Come," he pleaded. "Consider my question. It is a great day, one that we celebrate always."

At this a change came over Toto. His face flushed, his eyes glowed. Triumphantly he came out with it:

"Ah, mon pere, I know now. It is Mardi Gras."

Famous English Park

Hyde park is a famous pleasure ground in London, a mile and a half long and three-fourths of a mile wide, extending westward from Picadilly to Kensington gardens and covering an area of 300 acres. It was formerly the ancient manor of Hyde, belonging to the abbey of Westminster, and was laid out as a park and enclosed in 1535, in the reign of Henry VIII. In Elizabeth's time, stags were still hunted there, and under Charles II it was used for horse racing. The "Serpentine," an artificial sheet of water, was introduced by Queen Caroline, wife of George II.—Kansas City Star.

Transvaal's Gold Output

The gold output of the Transvaal gold mines during May amounted to 813,249 fine ounces, valued at £3,456,-308. As compared with the April totals, the increase in quantity was 25,-730 ounces, and in value £109,332. Natives employed in the mines at the end of May numbered 172,982, as compared with 176,188 at the end of April. A bill embodying the findings of the De Villiers wage award, granting a 30 per cent increase to men now on a basis of less than £1 a day has passed the house of assembly.—Commerce Reports.

Advocates Mutual Creed

A mutual creed for all denominations was advocated at Cardiff, Wales, by one of the leading speakers at the twelfth quadrennial council of Reformed churches. He urged the council to recommend adoption of "a common statement of faith for the Reformed churches, more distinct than the Reformed creeds, but one which would absorb the best of the Westminster confession and other similar creeds." He welcomed the efforts under way to unite all the Christian religions and urged that his hearers should lend all possible aid to this object without sacrificing their church.—Family Herald.

Harriet Hammond

This popular big brown-eyed beauty is prominent as a leading woman in the "movies." Miss Hammond devotes much time to the beautification of her eyelashes, a feature of her general attractiveness. She has been seen to splendid advantage in a number of popular pictures, and has hosts of admirers.

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

GITTUP N. GETT

ALTHOUGH, as a professional humorist, Gittup N. Gett had invented and sold 987 variations of the joke about the talkative barber, he habitually shaved himself and had his wife cut his hair, and as today's story opens he found himself in a barber's chair for the first time in years.

"Shave? Haircut?" said the barber.

"Haircut," said Gett, and waited humorously for the flood of chatter. But nothing followed save silence and the click-click-click of the barber's scissors.

"Well, this is strange," thought the humorist. And he said: "Aren't you unusually silent today, my tonsorial friend?"

"Who, me? No," replied the barber. "That stuff about barbers alla time gabbing is bunk. We don't talk unless we are talked to. Sometimes not then."

Another silence followed, deeper and, it seemed to Gittup N. Gett, more strained than the first. He paid for his haircut and visited three other barber shops, ordering a shave in the first, a shampoo in the second, and a cotton-seed oil rub in the third. In none of them did the barber open his mouth for one syllable more than was absolutely necessary.

Deeply mortified at the thought that for so many years he had obtained money under false pretenses, Gittup N. Gett stopped in at a costumer's, purchased an inexpensive hermit's costume and spent the rest of his life, far from mankind, brooding in the forests.

WHO SAID

"A jealous man always finds more than he looks for."

MADELAINE DE SCUDERI, the French romanticist, was the author of these words which sound almost ominous in their propheticalness.

Madelaine de Scuderi (1607-1701) was a writer of romances that were interminably long and boring. Her best known works are "Artameme ou le grand Cyrus," "Ibrahim ou l'Illustre Bassa," "Clelie," and "Almahide." All achieved great popularity in their day.

The writings of this woman, who was considered one of the leading literary figures of her day, owed their popularity to the fact that they were remarkably true descriptions of the time and of the people living when she did.

For this reason the books of Mlle. Scuderi had a remarkable circulation among those living at the time they were written, but to this same reason can be attributed their failure to be popular at the present time. They do not portray so much types of human nature as they describe individuals who lived at that time, and thus have little application to the present day.

In her day Mlle. Scuderi was a conspicuous figure in the literary circle that congregated at the Hotel Rambouillet in Paris. These gatherings were later broken up when the trouble with the Fronde occurred and Mlle. Scuderi and her literary circle moved to her own house. The Fronde was a party in French politics which caused considerable disturbance during the minority of the reign of Louis IV. They opposed the dominance of the courtiers and the wealthy.

A brother of Mlle. Scuderi, Georges, was a writer of tragedies and was a lifelong enemy of the famous French poet, Corneille. He was born in 1601 and died in 1667.—Wayne D. McMurray.

True Greatness

Great men are the true men, the men in whom nature has succeeded. They are not extraordinary, they are in the true order. It is the other species of men who are not what they ought to be.—Amiel's Journal.

Dr. Syms, Noted Doctor, Here

Dr. Parker Syms, noted urologist of New York city, successfully performed an operation on a man at the Benedictine Hospital on Saturday afternoon in the presence of twenty-seven doctors and a large number of nurses. The operation was a success. A local anesthesia was used and the patient while conscious while being operated on was unable to feel any pain.

Dr. Syms came here as the guest of the Kingston Academy of Medicine and all physicians of the city and vicinity had been invited to be present and watch Dr. Syms at work. He is one of the most widely known specialists in his line of work in the country.

No Decision in Assessment Case

Central Hudson Steamboat Company Seeks Confirmation of Report of Referee Appointed To Review Assessment of Kingston City Property—Decision Reserved.

Amos Van Etten for the Central-Hudson Steamboat Company appeared before Judge Hasbrouck in special term of the Supreme court Saturday and asked that the report of Virgil B. Van Wagonen, referee appointed in certiorari proceedings to review the assessment of the company property in Kingston, be confirmed.

The Central-Hudson Company protested the assessment of its property in this city, consisting of dockage and warehouses, and Mr. Van Wagonen was appointed referee to take testimony, etc. The property which was assessed at $55,000 was reduced to $44,000. Judge Jenkins, corporation counsel, appeared for the city and opposed the confirming of the report and asked that the referee submit findings stating the value of the buildings and the dockage separately.

Involved in the matter is the question of how much dockage is assessed to the Central-Hudson Company. The total dock frontage of the company is about 600 feet. In the past it has been customary to assess only 350 feet to the company. That portion of the dock owned by the company but leased and occupied by the Watts & Tammany coal yard and Mr. Hiltebrant as a garage has been assessed to them. Judge Jenkins seeks by asking a detailed report from the referee to learn how much of the dock is assessed to the company and what portion of the assessment is for dock and what part is for buildings.

The Central-Hudson Company objected to having its storehouse next to the old Sleightsburgh ferry slip assessed at $9,000. The company claims that the value is but $4,500. This assessment on storehouse was reduced by the referee to $6,000.

The property of the company is located on the Rondout creek and extends from the Rhineheck ferry up stream for about 600 feet and besides the old storehouse used for heavy freight there are other buildings. Judge Jenkins contended that the dock is the most valuable in the city and that the assessment of the Dwyer docks further up stream has no bearing on the value of the Central-Hudson docks which are located in the central portion of the business section and adjacent to the trolly line and the Ulster & Delaware railroad and have other advantages including a siding from the railroad.

Papers were submitted and decision reserved.

At 6 o'clock a family supper for the church and group representatives will be served in the chapel. There will be a question box and the Rev. William A. Dalton will preside. At 8 o'clock that evening there will be an inspirational address by the Rev. U. L. Lackey, D. D., executive of the New York Synodical National Missions.

Oldest Cigar Store?

Lancaster, Pa., claims the distinction of having the oldest cigar store in America. It has been in the Demuth family since 1770 and today is operated by Henry Demuth. The store is a museum for treasured relics, among them, the first bathtub in Lancaster county, more than a century old. It is built of wood, much after the fashion of a modern barrel.

Fight for Regent Stirs Daughters

Poughkeepsie Woman Will Have Opposition for Office of State Regent at Coming Conference of D. A. R.

A contest for the office of regent of the New York state conference, Daughters of the American Revolution, to succeed Mrs. Charles White Nash of Albany, is arousing widespread interest in D. A. R. circles. Candidates are Mrs. Daniel W. Wilbur of Poughkeepsie, who heads the ticket to be presented by the conference nominating committee at the annual convention in New York city October 28 to 30, and Mrs. Samuel J. Kramer of Pelham, regent of Washington Heights Chapter, D. A. R. of New York, hostess chapter of the conference convention.

A special closed meeting of the conference was conducted in Albany, when 150 representatives of several chapters, after a discussion, accepted the invitation of the chapter headed by Mrs. Kramer. The latter's candidacy is said to be endorsed by fifty chapters.

Mrs. Nash, who retires as state regent, is a candidate for the presidency of the National society, D. A. R., to succeed Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, whose term expires next year.

Mrs. Wilbur of Poughkeepsie, who heads the ticket named by the nominating committee, is former regent of Wahwenawasigh Chapter, D. A. R., of that city, and a former member of the state D. A. R. board. Others on the ticket advanced by the nominating committee, of which Mrs. Eli H. Fordham of Southampton, L. I., is chairman, are: For vice regent, Mrs. Frank H. Parcells, Brooklyn; recording secretary, Mrs. Bert Van Wie, Rochester; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Theodore de Laporte, Rhinebeck; treasurer, Miss Ruth Barber, Livonia; historian, Mrs. William T. Welden, Richfield Springs; consulting registrar, Mrs. David Perry, Ithaca; librarian, Mrs. John S. Parsons, Oswego; chaplain, Mrs. Silas T. Crocker, Fredonia; directors, Mrs. Walter M. Litchfield, Salamanca; Mrs. George Duffy, Fort Plain, and Mrs. Milton W. Holt, Lowville.

The thirtieth annual meeting of the New York D. A. R. conference will be conducted by invitation of Washington Heights Chapter, D. A. R. of which Mrs. Samuel J. Kramer is regent, at the Commodore Hotel, New York city Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 28, 29 and 30. The hotel will be headquarters for all meetings of the conference. Registration will begin Tuesday night, October 27 and continue until Friday morning, October 30 at 9:30 o'clock. The nominating committee will report Thursday morning, Octber 29 at 9:30 o'clock. Election will take place Friday morning, October 30 at 9:45 o'clock.

The chapter regents advisory council for chapter regents, will be conducted Wednesday morning, October 28 in one of the small rooms of the Commodore. Nutty Natural History

By HUGH HUTTON.

THE MONGOLIAN WART HOUND.

This rare animal inhabits the chow mein fields of northern China, coming out only at sunset to nibble the shredded wheat seeds. It lives in great terror of the choppersnop, a reptile that delights in snopping off the tender iliacs on the end of the wart hound's tail. During the rainy season it burrows underneath the mezzanine flooring to hibernate.

It is a very nutty animal, its head being one of those double peanuts stuck on his almond body with chewing gum. His clove feet (not cloven) get him around pretty well, but he needs the toothpick and raisin tail for a balancer. He uses popcorn for ears and warts, and they do very well. The eyes are white and black paint.

(Tomorrow — The Scandinavian Poodlebug.)

WATER ESSENTIAL IN CURING ROADS

While as little water as possible should be used for the mix in highway construction, it is essential that a sufficient quantity be used for curing. An important item therefore in the construction of good quality pavements is water in quantities to meet the needs of the contractor. That this supply may always be available, it is advisable for the inspector to satisfy himself that the pumping equipment and pipe line is adequate for all requirements.

Water is needed for three primary purposes: Wetting the subgrade, mixing the material, and curing the pavement. The quantity required naturally varies with the progress made, weather conditions and other factors peculiar to each job. In general, a supply of from 12,000 to 15,000 gallons per day for each 100 lineal feet of 18-foot pavement constructed will be sufficient. This is assuming an equivalent depth of about one inch for curing and wetting the subgrade and a maximum amount for mixing water of eight gallons for each bag of cement used. The total quantity required for each 100 lineal feet of 18-foot pavement will, therefore, be approximately 300 gallons for wetting subgrade, 2,200 gallons for mixing, and 10,000 gallons for curing (assuming a specified curing period of 14 days). For each additional 100 feet of progress an equal amount will be needed.

The rate at which the supply is to be delivered depends upon the speed with which the pavement is being placed. Few contractors require more than 50 gallons per minute and this amount is usually ample for the average job.

The size and length of the pipe line is as much a factor in determining the rate at which water will be delivered as is the pumping equipment. A table of friction heads for various size pipes will show, for example, that a new 2-inch pipe delivering 50 gallons per minute has a friction head of 5.6 feet for each 100 feet of length, while a 2½-inch pipe delivering the same amount of water has a friction head of only 1.86 feet per 100 feet of length. For old, rusted pipe, from 25 to 50 per cent should be added to the friction loss and allowance must be made for fittings and angles.

Generally, a pipe line having a friction head of more than 5 feet per 100 feet of length will be uneconomical and a larger pipe should be substituted. A long pipe line with a high friction head imposes a heavy duty on the pumps and it is frequently necessary to install a booster pump along the line when the available pipe line is of small diameter.

By making a study of this important subject of water supply for a job, the inspector can often render valuable assistance to the contractor and guard against delays and unpleasantness due to lack of water for curing.

Construction of Roads in Arkansas Progresses

The cost of building roads is always an important item. Hard surfaced roads may seem more expensive but they more than pay for themselves. This has been well illustrated by Melvin T. Traylor, president of the First National bank of Chicago, in an address to the forty-ninth annual convention of the American Bankers' association. He is quoted as saying: "Much of our recent debt has been for good roads. In most parts of the country these cost in the neighborhood of $25,000 per mile, but they add immediate increased value of $10 to $25 per acre to every foot of land they traverse and they certainly add increased dollars to every item produced on farms bordering or near them, to say nothing of the comfort and happiness which safe and easy traveling over them brings to the rural communities.

"There are many methods of providing funds for road building. Regardless of the manner in which the funds are obtained, the principal thing to be considered is that the roads shall be so built that they will render service at little expense long after payment for them is completed. Any other type of construction is waste; waste which is doubly abusive in that construction and maintenance go on larger and larger, while at the same time the user and those who benefit from the roads are paying an excessive cost for inadequate highways.

"More and wider roads of permanent construction must be built. Otherwise money is being spent upon construction which soon wears out—which is impassable during weeks of the year and which is fettering the growth of the transportation system and community development. It rests with the people who furnish the money whether roads shall be built for the present or for the future."

Favor Better Roads

The popular demand for better roads reared its head recently when the governor of Kansas, working with the highway commission, issued an appeal to state bankers for a loan of $[illegible] to meet a current federal aid fund allotment, which the legislature had failed to appropriate. The first letters were addressed to bankers of small Kansas towns and villages. In the executive mail the day after the first appeal went out to small banks came offers totaling $111,000.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATERS

At the Keeney Theater today and tomorrow First National's feature picture "The Half Way Girl" will be shown. Doris Kenyon and Huntley Gordon are featured in this picture. On the same program are the latest Keeney News, the novelty "Rubberneck in London" and the funfest "Nobody Works," Jimmie Conners and orchestra featuring Kingston's favorite baritone singer, David Freer, rendering "Oh How I Miss You Tonight."

"Never The Twain Shall Meet" the Cosmopolitan picturization of Peter B. Kyne's colorful story of the South Sea Islands and California will be the attraction at the Kingston Opera House for the first three days of this week opening today. On the same bill at the Opera House will be seen the world's latest news, "Novelty Soloist in a China Shop," and the all for fun picture, "Amateur Detectives."

At the Auditorium today Yakima Canut will be seen in "White Thunder."

At the Orpheum Theater tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday Mamie Smith will render vocal solos assisted by twenty beauties. There are also good dances with this troupe. The feature picture is "The Parasite."
